AIR FORCE PLANES COLLIDE, 66 DIE

Hurricane's Mighty Wind and Waves Lash Carolina Coast

ANDOVER BLAST TOLL JUMPS TO 21

2 Big Flying Boxcars Ram, Fall in Europe

Toll Includes Crews Of Planes, Soldiers Taking Part in Drill

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Two C119 Flying Boxcar transports collided in the air and crashed into the Black Forest today, The U. S. Air Force announced 66 men were killed.

The Air Force said the death toll included the crews of the two American aircraft as well as soldiers being transported.

The Flying Boxcars have a normal seating capacity of 67, with a maximum capacity of 78.

Based at Stuttgart

Police said the two planes were taking part with eight other aircraft in a transport exercise and had taken off from the U. S. airfield at Echterdingen, at Stuttgart.

The crash occurred near Edelweiler, a village in the Black Forest near Freudenstadt.

The planes were two of a nine-plane flight which had just taken off from Echterdingen field, near here, on a training mission with troops from the U. S. 7th Army aboard.

One Has Engine Trouble

The Air Force announcement said:

"Initial reports said that one plane developed engine trouble just after takeoff, after reaching a cruising level of 4,000 feet. The crippled plane lost altitude momentarily, then pulled up abruptly across the front of another aircraft in the formation.

"The crippled plane went down immediately. The second plane flew level for almost one minute, then went out of control and nosed into the ground."

The announced death toll would make this the fourth worst air disaster in history. A total of 129 U. S. servicemen died in the flaming wreckage of a C124 globemaster near Tokyo in 1953. In 1952 another C124 crashed on taking off from Larson Air Force Base, in

U.S. and China 'Near Accord' In Conference

GENEVA (AP) — A Chinese Communist source said today his government and the United States are "near agreement" on the release of 40 Americans held by Peiping and only details remain to be worked out. There was no official confirmation of the report, however, from either the Americans or the Reds.

The Chinese source spread his report after U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Peiping envoy Wang Ping-nan met for an hour and a half. It was the fifth of their secret talks here on the American prisoners and Chinese students the Red regime claims the United States is keeping from returning home.

The two ambassadors announced they would meet again Saturday morning. A U.S. spokesman would say only that Johnson and Wang continued their discussion on the repatriation of civilians.

The talks had stalled Monday over Wang's demand for a list of Chinese nationals living in the United States and a proposal that India act as a third party representing Red China on the repatriation question.

The United States has rejected both demands.

The Chinese Communists have asserted that a number of Chinese are being forced to remain in the United States. The United States insists that all are free to leave.

Eisenhower Names New Air Leader

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today named Donald A. Quarles—top man in the earth satellite project—as the new secretary of the Air Force.

Quarles is now assistant secretary of defense for research and development. He is 61, a native of Van Buren, Ark., and more recently a resident of Englewood, N. J. He is a Republican.

Quarles will succeed Harold Talbott who resigned Aug. 1, effective this Saturday, after the Senate Investigations subcommittee publicly explored Talbott's outside business interests and raised a question of ethics.

The appointment will be subject to Senate confirmation when congress reconvenes in January.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Quarles was recommended to Eisenhower by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

When a reporter asked about Quarles' private business holdings and what was being done about them, Hagerty said he was not in a position to answer that.

The Air Force has planned a mammoth farewell salute to Talbott for late this afternoon, including a display of jet planes if the weather does not interfere.

Prober Plenty Irked, Can't Get Access to Files

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Celler (D-NY) said today he will subpoena "everybody in sight," if necessary, to penetrate what he called the "aura of secrecy" around the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council.

Celler is chairman of a House Judiciary subcommittee on monopolies investigating the role in government of "WOC's," or business men serving without compensation in federal agencies while continuing to draw salaries from their private firms.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and the council's executive director, Walter S. White, refused Wednesday to give the subcommittee access to the council's files and records. White said the files are in the department's custody and he could not produce them without violating the law.

The BAC is an unofficial group composed of some 165 officials of the nation's large corporations to advise the secretary of commerce on national business policy. It was established in the 1930s and has continued through Democratic as well as Republican administrations.

Eye of Storm Is Heading for Resort Areas

Pounding Surf Breaks Up Fishing Piers, Gale Fills Air With Debris

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Hurricane Connie, losing some strength but still plenty powerful, battered the Carolina coast today.

Winds just under hurricane force of 75 miles an hour and towering waves broke up fishing piers and filled the air with flying debris in many exposed areas. The hurricane's eye, now packing winds of about 100 miles an hour, moved at a steady 6 to 7 miles an hour toward the lowlying resort beaches between this port city of Wilmington and Myrtle Beach, S. C. At the present rate the eye would reach shore about 9 p.m., EST. It was about 110 miles southeast of Wilmington at 11 a.m.

Tree limbs, shingles and other debris flew through the air on winds of 60 miles an hour and higher whipping through exposed resort areas.

Vacationers Leave

The dangerous storm which threatened a vast stretch of the seaboard from Goergetown, S C. north, was piling up sand and water in the streets of some North Carolina beach towns. Most vacationers and many permanent residents had sought shelter inland.

"It's blowing so hard you can hardly stand up," Police Chief M. E. Williamson reported from Wrightsville Beach, east of Wilmington.

The tide at Swannsboro, north of here and near Jacksonville, was reported higher than it was during the same stage of hurricane Hazel.

Communication lines were going out in many areas feeling the force of Connie's extended outer gales.

A fishing pier on the north end of Wrightsville Beach, which was destroyed by Hazel and rebuilt, reportedly was swept away again.

New England Relaxes

New England was told, meanwhile, it could relax. The Boston Weather Bureau announced Connie "is no threat to New England for at least the next 36 hours." Small craft were told they could resume normal operations.

By 8 a.m. winds were near hurricane force of 75 miles an hour near Cape Fear, some 30 miles south of this port city. The eye crept along at about 5 to 7 miles an hour toward the northwest.

Coast Braced for Storm

A long stretch of coastline from Georgetown, S. C., to Cape Lookout, N. C., braced for the mounting fury of the storm. Connie still threatened the whole Eastern Sea-

Not 5 Mills

County Home Levy Will Be Half of Mill

The Board of County Commissioners has filed with the Board of Elections a one-half mill levy for the construction of a hospital ward at the Marion County Home.

Due to a reporter's copying error, it was reported Wednesday the levy was for five mills. It actually is for five-tenths (.5) of one mill.

THE COMMISSIONERS today reported the one-half mill levy, if approved by the voters at the Nov. 8 general election, would result in an income of $125,000 for the two years in which the levy would be in effect. A total of $62,500 would be collected each year.

The commissioners pointed out the cost of taking the bed-ridden patients to the General Hospital is about $14 to $16 per day. With the addition of the new hospital ward, the patients could be cared for at a cost of between $3 and $4 per day, they said.

THE ADDITION would be an extension from the north side of the home and would be completely fireproof. It would have accommodations for about 50 patients.

The commissioners said they felt that if a fire occurred at the home at the present time most of the bed-ridden patients would be lost.

The commissioners also reported that extensive work at the home was ordered recently by the State Fire Marshal's office, much of which could be avoided with the construction of the new hospital ward. Among the recommendations were the construction of a fire wall in the hospital section and the addition of a fire escape there.

If the levy receives the required 60 per cent majority, the commissioners said work would start on the project early next year.

The commissioners said they had studied all recommendations of various civic groups who had studied the situation at the home and felt the addition of the hospital unit would be the best solution to the problem of crowded facilities.

167 Petitions Filed in County By Candidates

A total of 167 candidates filed petitions with the Marion County Board of Elections before the 4 p.m. filing deadline Wednesday for appearance on the November general election ballots.

Included in petitions filed Wednesday was one local option regarding the sale of wine and liquor in Precincts 1-E and 6-C. It was filed by William R. Martin, attorney, on behalf of a group of residents of those two precincts.

Voters of the two precincts will decide at the November election whether the sale of wine and liquor should be banned.

Two men filed petitions of candidacy to seek election to the Marion County Board of Education. They were Edwin Carey of near Marion, incumbent, and H. Clay Smith of near Caledonia. Terms of Carey and O. M. Mills are expiring this year.

Ten petitions were filed by persons seeking New Bloomington offices. Candidates and posts sought are as follows: Frank Gifford, councilman; Beatrice Pfeiffer, treasurer; Verne G. Pfeiffer, councilman; Mary Kannel, clerk; Guy E. Smith, councilman; Glenn E. Lucas, councilman; Vern C. Kinsler Sr., councilman; Kenneth Kinsler, mayor; Roy K. Jones, mayor; and Robert C. Corbin, councilman.

Others who filed petitions Wednesday were: Eugene C. Kraus of Waldo, councilman; James H. Ward of near Prospect, Waldo Board of Education; George Kramer of near New Bloomington, Green Camp Township trustee; Anna Schirmer of Green Camp, township clerk; H. Edward Flach of near Marion, Green Camp Board of Education; and Vernon E. Beaver of near Marion, Green Camp Board of Education.

Oda Hart of near Marion, Meeker Board of Education; Howard C. Hull of Waldo, mayor; Donald F. Baer Jr. of near Marion, Grand Prairie Township clerk-treasurer; and R. Austin Church of near Morral, Grand Prairie Township clerk.

5 Men Seek State School Board Post

Five candidates for the Eighth District representative on the state board of education will appear on the Marion County ballots this November.

Two from Marion County are Richard W. Mills of Marion and Charlton Myers of Morral. Mills is a physician and Myers is a Marion attorney.

The three other candidates for the state board post are all from Crawford County. They are Clifford Hoover of Bucyrus, Pearson L. Linn of Holmes Township, and Lloyd E. Volk of Chatfield.

Petitions for this post were filed with the Seneca County Board of Elections in Tiffin.

Swedes, Swiss Are Bound Not To Quit Korea

Neutral Team Will Not Bow to Pressure, Says Commission Official

SEOUL (AP)—A high Swedish official said today the Swiss and Swedish members of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission (NNSC) would not leave Korea under pressure.

His was the first public comment by a commission member since the group received a one-week ultimatum from the Republic of Korea to leave the country by Saturday.

"The continuation of the Korean government's campaign only strengthens our determination to stay on the job until the United Nations tells us differently," the Swede said. He declined to be identified.

Meanwhile organized Korean demonstrations against the NNSC virtually halted as Western reaction turned sharply against the violence of the past five days.

Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia are the other two nations represented on the NNSC. South Korean anger at the commission is directed primarily against the Communist members. South Koreans say the Communists are using their position for espionage.

South Korea's official spokesman tonight blamed American troops for the violence.

"It was all due to the outrageous use of weapons by the U. S. military forces," said Dr. Hong Kee Karl.

Explosion Rips Village Square; 18 Are Injured

ANDOVER, OHIO (AP)—A roaring blast and swirling flames tore a path of death Wednesday night through a row of buildings on the village square. Many of the victims had taken refuge there from a storm.

There were 21 bodies accounted for, most of them in a makeshift morgue inside a garage three blocks away. The injured numbered at least 18.

The center of the disaster was the Gateway Restaurant in this village in the resort area of Pymatuning Lake, along the Pennsylvania border. The restaurant and a dairy store were in a 2-story frame building which disintegrated with a force that shook the whole town. It has a population of about 1,200.

Through the sodden ashes and debris the squads of silent firemen worked in a drizzle until 5 a.m. today. Then they stopped for rest and food.

At 2 a.m. they had pulled the 17th body from under the sagging and blackened timbers which had fallen into the cellar. After that, they had been able to recover only portions of bodies.

When they resumed their digging in daylight, they pulled a man's body and a woman's body from the debris.

At that point, a half dozen bodies had been definitely identified, and four others tentatively. Many of the corpses were burned beyond immediate recognition.

Many Were Tourists

The task of learning the victims' names was complicated by the fact this village is on Ohio 6, used by tourists headed for Lake Erie as well as Lake Pymatuning. Some of them may have been eating in the restaurant at the time of the explosion.

A Pittsburgh family of four was among those definitely listed. They were Mr. and Mrs. George Schroeder, their 2-year-old son, George Jr., and Mrs. Schroeder's father, Thomas Kennell, 45. The latter's wife was in a hospital in Ashtabula.

Sixteen-year-old twins who had been working as waitresses also were identified. They were Arlene and Darlene Cuttlip of Andover.

Sheriff Tom Fasula said he thought sewer gas, backed up by clogged drains, might have been the agent which ignited the blast. But he said he could not be sure.

Debris Showers Street

Debris showered Main Street in front of the restaurant, ripping up sections of the street and wrecking several automobiles. Then the flames whipped on to other buildings.

A Cleveland policeman, Elmer Bumblis, was driving past the restaurant at the time of the explosion and gave this description of the disaster:

"The walls blew out and the roof fell in. There were arms and legs

Pair Arrested For Robbery of Bank in Queens

FBI Reports Warrants Issued for Two More In $305,000 Holdup

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI says it has cracked the largest cash bank robbery in history, seizing two men as alleged members of a smooth-working quartet who held up a Queens bank to the tune of $305,000.

Warrants were issued for two other men thought to have been the ringleaders in the carefully planned holdup. A fifth man has been held as a material witness.

Queens Men Arraigned

Arraigned Wednesday and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34, both of Astoria, Queens — not far from the looted Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

McCoo, accused of taking part in the robbery, was held without bond. Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, charged with aiding and abetting the stickup.

Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at the Woodside bank when four bandits appeared on the morning of April 6 and made off with their record haul without firing a shot. Mrs. Cocchiaro since has resigned.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Paul W. Windels said none of the stolen money has been recovered. Windels also said that the holdup was partly an inside job but did not point a finger at any employe.

Bartender Held

Redmond (Ninny) Cribbins, 48, alias Mike Malloy, and Thomas (Duke) Connelly Jr., 30, both veteran criminals, are sought for questioning.

Vincent W. Kritil, 28, a Fire Island bartender described as "knowing" Cribbins and Connelly, is held in $40,000 bail as a material witness. Windels said he feared for Kritil's life if he were freed on

Decision Due in November

Stevenson Is Unofficial Candidate for President

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson was all but an officially announced candidate today for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

In an informal and unusual news conference Wednesday night, the 1952 Democratic nominee made it plain to all who came to question that he will announce in November he is running again.

Without committing himself finally at this time, Stevenson outlined what he regards as a possible winning Democratic campaign against President Eisenhower. He said he doesn't believe Eisenhower is "invulnerable" despite the outcome of a similar race three years ago.

The Stevenson campaign credo, as revealed at a crowded news conference after a cocktail party and dinner given by former Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, was this:

1. Eisenhower has "sharply reversed" the previous GOP foreign policies in favor of "bold and vigorous" action at the Geneva Big Four conference but those policies could change for the worse again" at any moment.

2. While the Eisenhower administration now seems to agree generally with the Democrats in Congress that action is needed on education, health, housing and highways programs, the Republicans only make promises "and the Democrats believe in action."

3. He has "some misgivings" about the threat offered by the Republicans to federal development of natural resources and what he said is the Eisenhower

10-Year Program

Housing Development Set For City's Eastern Edge

Plans for a new housing development on Marion's east side were announced today by real estate brokers Gale D. Ireland and D. W. Holliday. The new addition will be constructed on a farm presently owned by Mrs. Laura A. Zachman and Mr. and Mrs. Marlow E. Zachman, and will be known as Zachman's Vernon Acres.

Development of the 160 acres in the section will be a continuing process and will take about 10 years, Ireland said. A plat of the first phase has been completed and approved by City Council.

IT CONSISTS of a strip of land running south from Mt. Vernon Ave. for a distance of about 710 feet at a point directly across from the south end of Forest Lawn Blvd.

Work on a street is scheduled to begin within the week. The street will run from Mt. Vernon Ave. south to Barks Rd. The first plat included only the northern sector of the lot, with six lots in it. The six lots will be on the west side of the new street which is to be known as Forest Lawn Dr.

THE SIX LOTS will be adjacent to 20 acres of property purchased several months ago by the Catholic Diocese of Columbus, reportedly for the construction of a new high school. The Diocese purchased the land from the Zachmans.

Land adjacent to the street south of the city limits for a distance of about 2,000 feet to Barks Rd. will be platted early this fall, according to present plans. There will be 50 to 60 building sites in

Hoover Visits Boyhood Home

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — Herbert Hoover headed for his favorite fishing stream—the McKenzie River in southwestern Oregon—after seeing his boyhood home dedicated as a national shrine Wednesday.

Hoover observed his 81st birthday at ceremonies dedicating the house where he came as an orphan 70 years ago.

He spoke bareheaded in the hot afternoon sun to a crowd estimated at 5,000. Hoover showed no sign of fatigue and seemed pleased with the simple ceremonies arranged for the occasion.

Although he did not remember many of his former neighbors — he was 15 when he left Newberg for nearby Salem — he mingled with the crowd, greeting everyone who approached him.

At the ceremonies, he told of his early days in this area and praised the heritage left by the builders of Newberg and the small towns over the nation.

He praised the lives of his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Henry John Minthorn, to whose home in this Quaker community he came after the death of his parents. He said the spirit of Minthorn, a country doctor and a religious educator, lives on in the nation.

The Minthorn house was restored by friends of the former President, who organized the Herbert Hoover Foundation.

Stolen Car Runs Blockade, Hits 2nd Auto, Killing Five

SEYMOUR, Ind. (AP)—State police said four Ohioans and a baby girl were killed last night when a stolen car swerved around a police blockade and crashed headon with the Ohio car.

Two of the victims were identified through papers they carried as Robert M. Gannon, 38, Russells Point, in Logan County and William W. Gehrman, 32, of Hamilton.

Two others, Delores Gehrman and Olive E. Gannon, 41, had papers on them containing an address of the Lafayette Hotel, Cincinnati. The 18-month-old baby girl was unidentified.

Occupants of the car which ran the blockade were identified by state police as Larry Howard, 16, Louisville, Ky., and Glenn E. Fletcher, 16, Knox, Ind., both injured in the crash.

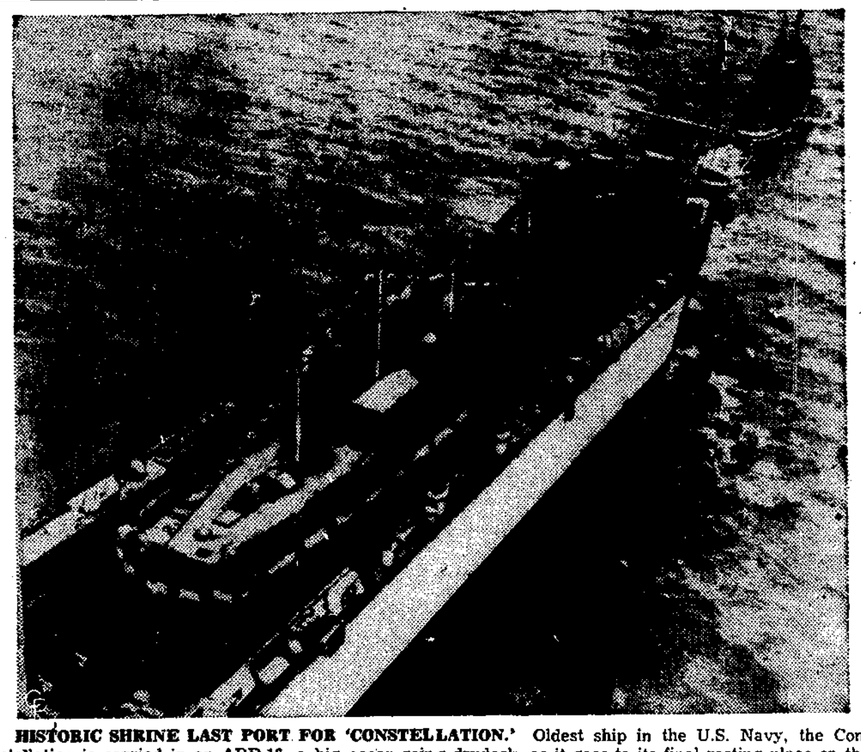
Columbus Man Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Injuries received last Thursday when he fell under a truck's wheels at nearby Hilliards proved fatal yesterday to George Trimmer, 31, Columbus.



HISTORIC SHRINE LAST PORT FOR 'CONSTELLATION.' Oldest ship in the U.S. Navy, the Constellation is carried in an ARD-16, a big ocean-going drydock, as it goes to its final resting place on the banks of the Patapsco near Baltimore. It was there that the historic vessel was launched 159 years ago. From the temporary masts fly code flags, spelling out "The Yankee Race Horse," a name given the Constellation by the French whom she outfought more than 155 years ago. The vessel is to be permanently enshrined on a bed of gravel at Fort McHenry and preserved for posterity as Britain preserved Nelson's flagship, Victory.

Eight Minor Crashes Listed In City, County

Marion police today reported six no-injury accidents on city streets, including one hit-skip accident. Highway patrolmen investigated one accident in the county which involved no injuries and sheriff's deputies also listed one minor accident.

The hit-skip accident was reported at 2 p.m. Wednesday. A car owned by Phillip Dickerson of Mansfield and parked in front of 375 S. Main St. was struck in the left front end by a tractor-trailer outfit. Witnesses told police the tractor-trailor jacknifed on the wet pavement and struck the car. They said the driver stopped for a moment, then proceeded on his way.

Another accident was reported at 1:41 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of N. Main and Hazen Sts. A car driven by Franklin C. Smonden, 34, of Hatboro, Pa., was struck in the rear end by one driven by Glenn M. Williamson, 29, of Berea. Smonden had stopped for a traffic light when Williamson's car skidded into the rear end. The Williamson car was removed from the scene by a wrecker with heavy damage to the front end.

At 12:05 a.m. today, police investigated an accident in front of 201 Silver St. A car operated by Donald F. Kay, 29, of 770 King Ave. stopped to let out a passenger and was struck in the rear end by a car driven by Frank J. Schroeder, 41, of 387 N. Prospect St. Police arrested Schroeder for fictitious license plates. He is to appear in Marion Municipal Court later.

Each of the other three accidents caused total damage of less than $100, police estimated.

Car Leaves Highway

One accident was investigated early this morning by the Marion County sheriff's office.

It occurred at 2 a.m. on Marion County Road 122 about four miles south of Marion. Samuel E. Mehaffey, 24, of near Marion, was southbound on Route 4 and attempted to make a left turn onto County Road 122. He struck an abutment and a road sign, skidded and then the car overturned.

Considerable damage resulted to the car, but Mehaffey escaped injury, deputies reported.

Cars Crash on Route 23

No one was injured in one accident investigated Wednesday night on Route 23 about four miles south of Marion.

Two southbound cars driven by Raymond H. Skatzes, 29, of 566 Henry St., and Buster Chaney, 25, of Millard, Ky., collided as Chaney was attempting to pass Skatzes while Skatzes was attempting to make a left turn onto County Rd. 108.

Minor damage resulted to both vehicles. Skatzes was arrested on a charge of failing to signal a turn and Chaney on a charge of passing at an intersection. They are to appear in Municipal Court at later dates.

GENEVA MAN KILLED

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—Jackson F. Morey, 39, of Rt. 4, Geneva, was killed today early today when struck by a car on U. S. 20, just east of Geneva. The Ohio Highway Patrol said Morey walked from between parked cars.

Colorado Farm Families Flee As Water Rises

Downpour, Heaviest in 20 Years, Inundates Grassland, Resort Area

BRUSH, Colo. (AP)—Floodwaters fed by the heaviest rainfall in this northeast Colorado area in 20 years forced at least 150 farm families from their homes today.

One woman was reported drowned.

The floodwaters swirled along a three-mile path south and east of Brush.

A cloudburst dumped up to four inches of rain and hail on prairie grassland south of here.

Another cloudburst, described as the worst since 1921, lashed a mountain resort southwest of Colorado Springs Wednesday, temporarily stranding about 300 tourists and causing damage estimated in thousands of dollars.

A woman identified as Mrs. N. Ellsworth Escott of Marion, Ind., was believed drowned when a crest struck a bridge nine miles south of here and carried the car in which she and her husband were riding one mile from the highway.

Her husband, the Rev. N. Ellsworth Escott, was rescued by Jack Weisbart of Brush, a feed lot executive, who piloted an outboard motorboat to the swamped vehicle. He had clung for two hours to a log near the car. Taken to a Brush hospital suffering from exposure and shock, he later was reported in good condition.

Beaver Creek, ordinarily a small trickling stream, gushed to 20 foot depths within hours after the cloudburst struck near Last Chance, Colo., late Wednesday. The creek flows a quarter mile east of this farming community of 4,082.

About 10,000 acres of farmland were covered by floodwaters.

Murder Count Faced by Youth

Confessed Slayer of Parents Is Arraigned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Robert J. Miller, 19, who police say has admitted beating his parents to death, is scheduled to be arraigned today on first degree murder charges.

Police said Miller signed a statement that he hammered and stabbed his mother, Mrs. Betty Thomas, 39, and his step-father, Gomer, 50, at the climax of an argument in the couple's Columbus home Saturday.

Miller was arrested in Cambridge Tuesday on his way back to Columbus.

Police said he told them he drove his step-father's car through East Coast states after the slaying.

In his statement, police reported Miller said that his mother scolded him for keeping company with a 16-year-old girl and called her a "dirty" name. The youth said he struck his mother with his fists, and when his step-father joined the argument Miller hit him too. Finally, Miller said, he attacked both of them with two hammers and two butcher knives.

The bodies were discovered Monday in the blood-splattered bedroom by Mrs. Thomas' son, Charles Miller, brother of Robert.

board from Savannah to Block Island, R. I.

Even as Connie whirled her menacing winds off the Carolinas resort area devastated last October by hurricane Hazel, another tropical storm was developing in the Atlantic about 400 miles northeast of San Juan. The Miami Weather Bureau said the new storm, named Diane, has winds of 50 to 60 miles near the center and gales outward 100 miles. It is expected to grow stronger steadily, continuing its generally northwest movement at about 14 miles an hour.

The 8 a.m. Weather Bureau bulletin on Connie pushed hurricane warnings down the South Carolina coast as far as Cape Romain, about 50 miles northeast of Charleston. The red and black flags were up as far north as the Virginia capes.

Tides in the area were four or five feet above normal and were expected to be double that in some places.

Lightship in Gale

The Frying Pan Shoals Lightship, 45 miles off the mouth of the Cape Fear River and 60 miles southeast of Wilmington, pitched and tossed in winds up to 90 miles an hour and raging seas as early as 7 a.m.

At the mouth of Cape Fear near Southport, Coast Guardsmen at Oak Island reported steady 60-mile winds.

Paul Moore, forecaster in the Miami storm warning center, noted that Connie was spreading out somewhat, thereby reducing peak winds velocity near the center. But she is far from a dying storm, he warned, and "we don't want anybody to let down their guard."

"Unless there is a radical, unexpected change," he said, "the Georgia coast appears out of trouble except from rough seas."

Moore said the Georgia coast and all other alerted sections should stand by with full precautions, however.

Meantime, there were increasing reports of dangerous squalls from coastal villages and towns in the hurricane's path.

Time To Prepare

Connie, which was spotted first as a tropical storm last Friday, had churned the past three days off the coast, giving ample time for persons along the Atlantic seaboard to prepare.

The Red Cross and Civil Defense had hundreds of workers standing by and the highway patrol, the Civil Air Patrol and amateur radio operators set up an emergency communications system.

Air Crash

Washington State, killing 87. In 1950, a commercial plane carrying soccer fans crashed at Cardiff, Wales, with a death toll of 80 persons.

Today's was West Germany's biggest postwar air disaster and also the biggest military death toll in an air crash in Western Europe.

The Air Force said today's crash occurred less than 15 minutes after take-off in mid-afternoon.

The announcement said there were 41 passengers, a crew of 5 plus one loadmaster in one plane, and 14 passengers, a crew of 4 and a loadmaster in the second.

The crashed aircraft were from the 60th Troop Carrier Wing at Rhein-Main Air Base, Frankfurt, on a mission to train 7th Army troops in air transportation.

The loadmasters in each plane were noncommissioned officers responsible for embarkation and disembarkation of the troops.

An Air Force spokesman said one plane came down in the forest and the second in an open field.

43 Others Evacuated

60 Men Stick With Tiny 'Island' in a Raging Sea

BOSTON (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter McCulloch today brought ashore 43 men evacuated from an Air Force radar platform at sea — including a dozen spilled into the water during a perilous transfer to the McCulloch.

60 Others Remain

Left behind on the "Texas tower" artificial island were 60 workmen who gambled their lives on their faith that the platform they are building 100 miles off Cape Cod can withstand hurricane Connie's worst.

Cmdr. Louis F. Sudnik of Dedham, Mass., skipper of the McCulloch, said about a dozen men were dunked in the Atlantic Wednesday transferring to one of the cutter's boats. The men were lowered four at a time in a bucket-like carrier resembling a rubber boat with railings. Sudnik called it a "doughnut."

Several times the "doughnut" tipped, and spilled its human cargo as a crane operator aboard the tower maneuver to drop the men into the cutter's boat. The men, all wearing life jackets, were fished out unhurt.

As for the 60 men remaining aboard the radar platform—with its three permanent legs now imbedded in the ocean floor on Georges Shoal—Cmdr. Sudnik said their chances to ride out the hurricane are "in the hands of the Lord."

Sudnik said no rescue craft dare venture near the tower in heavy seas.

First in String of Stations

The 10 million dollar radar platform is the first of a string to be built out in the Atlantic for the Air Force. Its radar is intended to provide early warning for the East Coast in event of an enemy attack.

Seas of 35 to 40 feet were forecast today for the Georges Bank area. But the bottom of the steel platform stands 63 feet above the normal water line.

"We don't think there is any danger or we would evacuate all the men," said H. C. Duncan, project engineer for the contractors.

Quarles became assistant secretary of defense Aug. 2, 1952. He was a World War I field artillery captain.

From 1919 to 1948 he was an engineer for the Bell Telephone laboratories and served as vice president of that firm from 1948 to 1952.

He also is a former vice president of the Western Electric Co. and a former president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

As assistant secretary of defense, Quarles has concentrated on pushing guided missile programs. He came to the Pentagon after serving as president of the Sandia laboratory in New Mexico which does highly specialized research for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The multi-million dollar earth satellite program which the White House disclosed with considerable fanfare last month comes directly under Quarles' supervision.

One of the quietest men in high position in the Pentagon, Quarles has kept out of public view but is known to have been Wilson's close righthand man on all problems involving new weapons.

Talbott resigned with the explanation to Eisenhower that "I would not in any circumstances wish to be a source of embarrassment to you or to your splendid administration."

He wrote the letter after the Senate subcommittee heard testimony that Talbott received $132,000 as a partner in the New York management consultant firm of Paul B. Mulligan Co. while he was also Air Force secretary.

Talbott acknowledged making telephone calls from the Pentagon and writing letters on Air Force stationery to prospective clients of the firm. Some of the firm's clients have Air Force contracts.

Denies Impropriety

But Talbott, a 67-year-old Ohioan, repeatedly denied any impropriety. In his letter of resignation he said he was "clear in my mind and conscience that my actions have been within the bounds of ethics."

Eisenhower praised Talbott's services but wrote him "your decision (to resign) was the right one."

Eisenhower has refused to discuss the case publicly since.

If the fashion continues, no place in the county eventually will be more than an hour's drive from some memorial library containing a President's papers.

Like 'Horrible Dream,' Says One Survivor

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—"There were two tables of six—families. One had three little children and one had four."

Nancy Mocky's eyes filled with tears. "One family had finished and they were standing inside the door, waiting for the rain to stop. I don't know if they got out. I just don't remember.

"I woke up and it had happened. A person doesn't know. It was like a dream—a horrible dream."

These are the words of a 23-year-old Youngstown woman whom death narrowly missed in Andover's tragic explosion.

Miss Mock, co-owner of the Gateway Restaurant where the blast originated, was working to stop the flow of rainwater into the restaurant's basement.

"The next thing I knew, I was lying on the ground and something was on top of me and I was trying to get it off," Miss Mock said.

"Windows were breaking across the street, windows were breaking all over, and the fires—there were fires everywhere and there were voices and other noises and smoke flowing over everything."

Miss Mock, unaware tragedy was at hand, worked in the pouring rain to channel rushing, ankle deep water away from the cellar of the restaurant, which she owned with Luke Flannery and Myron French.

French, inside the restaurant, was critically injured. Flannery left for home minutes before the blast.

Miss Mock was found amidst the rubble by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kirker. They said they had been in Andover and had started to drive across the Pymatuning Lake causeway when they saw the smoke and heard the explosion. They brought her to South Side Hospital, her forehead and arms scraped and bruised.

sticking out of the wreckage all over the building."

No one was certain what caused the explosion. Firemen, however, speculated that accumulated gas was set off either by a bolt of lightning or a spark from electrical equipment in the basement, flooded by the heavy rains.

Today, tired-eyed and grimy firemen and volunteer rescurers still were picking through the smoking wreckage in search of more bodies. They worked through the night with searchlights and emergency generators, as the storm had knocked out power lines and telephone communications.

Identification Job Begun

In a makeshift morgue, set up three blocks from the scene, Ashtatabula County Deputy Coroner H. K. Lynne was going through the grisly task of identifying the bodies of the dead. Many were burned beyond recognition, and Dr. Lynne said it may take days to identify all of them.

The fire itself was brought under control in four hours as firemen from 20 nearby Ohio and Pennsylvania towns rushed equipment to the stricken village.

Traffic was snarled through much of the night by the effects of the explosion and hordes of curious motorists who drove to see the fire. Law enforcement officials threw a cordon around the community and the State Highway Patrol said martial law had been declared there at the request of the Andover mayor. Sixth troops were sent to the village to enforce it.

Frank Lacky, a Massillon, Ohio, truck driver, was eating in the restaurant when it exploded.

"Suddenly the restaurant was gone," he recalled later at Ashtabula Hospital where he was taken for treatment of his injuries. "It just blew up. The next thing I knew I was lying in the grass."

In a building adjoining the restaurant, Fay Letwiler was knocked to the floor by the explosion as he sat in his apartment. Overcome by smoke, he was carried down a ladder by firemen and later told reporters that "I heard a tremendous explosion and saw a big ball of fire. Smoke poured in the window and then I blacked out."

Woman Blown Into Street

An Andover furniture salesman, Charles Dotta, 30, was waiting across the street from the restaurant for his wife, who had just finished eating there.

His wife, Dolores, 28, was standing in the doorway, waiting for a break in the rain.

Then, Dotta said, "The roof buckled and the walls blew out. I saw her. She was sitting there. Just sitting there, right in the middle of Main Street."

Dotta drove his wife to a doctor's office where it was found she suffered only minor injuries.

There was no official estimate of property damage, but it was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The building in which the restaurant was located also housed an Isaly store, part of a national dairy store chain. The other buildings housed Ohio Edison Co. offices, Hall Insurance Co., Freddy's Shoe Shop, Grabert Market and Taylor's Barber Shop.

The injured were taken to hospitals here and in Conneaut and Youngstown. At least three of them were reported on the danger list.

Coroner Clyde C. Roller and the State Highway Patrol said five of the dead had been identifed. They were George A. Schroeder of Pittsburgh, Pa. Schroeder's father-in-law, Thomas Kenell, also of Pittsburgh; the 8-year-old son of Edward Surman of Solon, Ohio, whose name was not available; and two Isaly waitresses, twin sisters Arlene and Darlene Cuttlip, 16.

In addition, the officials said, Schroeder's wife and son, age unavailable, were missing and presumed dead.

Miss Lucille Braumiller of Parma was returning from a 3,000-mile vacation trip through the East with two friends, when she stopped to check a signpost and was blown out of her car by the blast at Andover. The three were showered with broken glass and debris but suffered only minor injuries.

Others in the car were Miss Barbara Ross of Niles and Miss Norma Hunter of Warren.

"We were too stunned to know what had happened or to notice much," said Miss Hunter. "Fortunately we had enough sense to hobble over to the park across the way where people had gathered to help."

Two Youngsters Saved

Two youngsters—children of a former Mayfield Heights couple—apparently were saved from death in the explosion because they returned home for money for ice cream cones.

Gloria, 5, and Roger Brown, 7, left their parents' diner one block from the blast scene to get ice cream cones, but in seconds they were back again for money.

"If the kids had gone to Isaly's for their ice cream right away, I don't know what would have happened," said their mother, Mrs. Walter Brown.

bond. Authorities said Kritil has no criminal record.

A bank employe identified a rogue's gallery photo of Cribbins the day after the robbery.

Connelly, with a long prison record, dropped out of sight about the time of the holdup. His wife, Ann, and their two children, George 2, and Veronica, 3, disappeared about 10 days later.

The children were found abandoned last July 27—one in Baltimore, Md., and the other in Wilmington, Del.

To get into the bank the bandits, one carrying a submachine gun, first kidnaped the bank's chief clerk outside his home and opened the bank door with his keys.

ORD, Neb. (INS) — A steer on the Henry Lange farm near Ord, survived nearly 30 days without food or water this summer while trapped in an eight-foot dry wash. The critter, found after a four-week search, had dropped in weight from 600 pounds to 350 pounds.

Main Conference Problem

Governors Still Seeking Acceptable Highway Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's governors searched today for a compromise highway construction program that might be palatable to a Congress which rejected President Eisenhower's proposals and Democratic substitutes

Although the governors listened to praise Wednesday night from Britain's Ambassador Sir Roger Makins for Eisenhower's role at the Geneva Big Four conference and turned to a discussion of mental health problems today, their minds obviously were on the roads issue.

Puts Lie to Charges

Makins told the governors at the state dinner of this 47th annual conference of the chief executives that at Geneva Eisenhower had succeeded "in laying, let us hope for once and all, the ghost of the idea that the Americans are a pack of war mongers."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, told his colleagues in a prepared address that "the problem of mental health is still one of the biggest faced by the people and the states."

"One out of 12 babies born today will spend some time in a mental institution," he said. "Over one-half of our hospital beds are required for mental cases. The total annual public cost of mental health in the United States amounts to over $1,100,000,000."

President Eisenhower told the governors in a message Wednesday he is ready to cooperate with them in attempting to solve the highway and school construction programs. After a discussion, the governors named a resolutions committee to take up the road issue.

Seeks Quick Action

Most of the members called for quick action to get road building started but they differed in methods.

Gov. William G. Stratton, Illinois Republican, proposed a five-year road building plan instead of the 10-year program urged by President Eisenhower. Gov. Fred Hall, Kansas Republican, plugged for a cooperative federal-state program.

Indiana's Republican Gov. George M. Craig urged continuous consultation between the governors and Congress in working out a highway bill. Gov. Walter J. Kohler, Wisconsin Republican, said he is supporting Eisenhower's proposal for a long term, bond financed program.

Gov. Edwin C. Johnson, Colorado Democrat, said he wants a pay-as-you go system, without any increase in federal gasoline and other taxes.

Stevenson

administration's opposition to "the Democratic concept of government for all of the people and not the few."

Having laid down this outline, the tanned and healthy appearing potential candidate told reporters he will have something definite to say about his political intentions by November.

Several Democratic governors have suggested at the 47th Annual Governors Conference here that Stevenson had better make up his mind quickly if he wants their party's nomination. Stevenson said he had been listening for a year to such advice—and to some contrary opinions—and "I'll do what I believe is best for the party."

What was best for the Democrats, in Stevenson's obvious opinion, was to quit thinking about other potential nominees such as Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Harriman, who repeated after a dinner meeting with the former Illinois governor that "I'm for Stevenson," was described by Stevenson as "understanding my thinking."

Asked if he thinks he or any other Democrat could beat Eisenhower next year Stevenson replied:

"Anyone could do better against Eisenhower than last time. The Democrats are stronger now."

Won't Shrink Challenge

Stevenson indicated that if he is the party nominee he will not shrink from challenging Eisenhower's foreign policies.

He said that three years of "tough talk" on the part of Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles had "brought many people (abroad) to the conclusion that the Eisenhower administration was more of a threat to peace than Russia."

He said Eisenhower has "sharply reversed" that trend at Geneva and he hopes that "what was done there was for the best."

"But I think it would be foolish to think that the cold war was ended by that sharp reversal of policy," he said. "I don't think we can relax because that is precisely what Russia wants us to do."

Although he was laudatory of Eisenhower's position at the Geneva conference, Stevenson criticized the President's conversations with Marshal Zhukov, Soviet defense minister and a World War II comrade in arms.

"I never expected to hear an American President plead with a third string Communist to please believe that the United States wanted peace," he declared.

Stevenson brushed aside earlier comment by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, that President Eisenhower is "an old man" who probably wouldn't be nominated again unless the Republicans were desperate for a candidate and forced him to run. Eisenhower is 64.

Asked about the statement of the 44-year-old Williams, Stevenson, who is 55 years old, replied:

"A man is only as old as he feels."

Essentially, that was the answer of Republican Governors Arthur B. Langlie of Washington and Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland. Langlie said Williams was "slandering some of the best workmen and the best minds of the country" by questioning Eisenhower's age.

Youth Escapes Murder Rap in Death of Guard

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old Toledo inmate at the Lima State Hospital for Criminal Insane has escaped prosecution for first degree murder because he was only 17 when the crime was committed.

John A. Baus, who turned 18 on Aug. 3, was remanded to juvenile court yesterday by Common Pleas Judge Moran B. Jenkins. Baus will face a delinquency charge in the July 21 slaying of Glenn Farmer, 62, a guard-attendant at the Lima institution, Prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers said.

Two other hospital inmates, Thomas Womack, 32, and Leo Sersich, 26, who investigators said took part in the slaying, were returned to Mansfield Reformatory last week after they were judged sane. Bowers said they face first degree murder charges.

Baus; Womach and Sersich had been originally transferred to Lima from Mansfield when authorities said they showed signs of personality disorders.

Baus also was found sane and was placed in Allen County jail. Bowers said Baus will appear before juvenile court next week.

Investigators said the trio killed Farmer while trying to escape from a hospital dining room. They said each took turns sitting on the guard's back holding a towel around his mouth and nose, while they tried to cut through window bars. Farmer suffocated.

that part of the development.

Work on the first house in the project is to begin about Oct. 1 and three houses are set for completion by the end of the year.

A. J. BUDAY, local builder, will be the building contractor for all homes in the new division. Ireland and Holliday will be brokers for all lots and buildings in the division.

The homes will all be in the $20,000 and higher class. They will be three-bedroom, ranch - type homes with two-car garages. Basements will be constructed or left out at the wish of the buyer. Gas, city water and electricity will be available for all homes. Sewage disposal plans have already been approved for the first six homes with the approval of the plat.

One of the first houses to be built by Buday will be owned and occupied by the Zachmans, who are quitting the dairy business.

All lots will be about 90 by 150 feet in size. The lots on the section of Forest Lawn Dr. south of the city limits will be available either cleared or wooded. Plans for that section are expected to be completed by early fall.

On Bullfights

By George Sokolsky

Everybody these days is a censor and wants to keep things out of the papers. Recently I wrote about some entrepreneurs who hoped to make a dollar or so promoting bullfights as a nolev form of gambling. I thought that I wrote disapprovingly but some humane society professionals thought otherwise. They want me censored for cruelty to bulls.

SOKOLSKY

Now along comes Mrs. Betty B. Eilers of Scottsdale, Ariz., and she writes me affably and learnedly. She does not want me to be censored; so I love her. Mrs. Eilers says:

"The bull is a bull. He knows he is a bull. He does not have to prove to God or himself that he is a bull and superior to all beings who would vie for the position of a bull. His job is to sire his species. He is beloved of God for he is the result of God's wish to have him on earth. The Bible says that he who slays an ox is as if he had slain a man; he is the symbol of one of the evangelists."

THE BULL THEN is wise in his ways. He knows what he is, which is more than can be said of many humans, some of whom think they are wolves, while others try to establish by conduct that they are swine. The bull, however, is certain of his lineage, his character, his nobility. I have never seen a bullfight, having no penchant for sitting in the sun.

Here in the Berkshires, until this year, the sun was always gentle and peaceful and of the non-scorching variety.

I did not know until Mrs. Eilers told me, that if the bull wins the fight, he gets killed for winning. Well, that must make the United States a bull, because whenever we win a war, somebody else gets the benefits and we pay out of the taxpayers' earnings in apology for having been victorious.

IN FACT, the story goes that two statesmen were discussing the serious problem of getting aid for Israel, instead of it all going to the Arabs.

One Israeli statesman said that the only thing to do is to declare war on the United States. The other statesman was horrified. "How can you say such a thing? If we declare war on the United States, we will not only look ridiculous but we'll be defeated."

"How else do you expect to get aid?" asked statesman number one.

Also, I understand that if the bull gets defeated, his ears are clipped off and the matador, or however it be, wears those ears in his belt, which must be a smelly affair.

Presumably the cards are stacked against the bull to assert the superiority of man: If the matador loses, his victor is to be destroyed lest men regard the bull as superior to man and worship him as a Baal. Bull and cow worship is the curse of India and perhaps explains the twisted thinking of Nehru and his private devil, Krishna Menon.

LET US BE serious for a moment about bullfights, dog races, prize fights, basketball games, slot machines and whatever else may be available for men who want to bet. They will bet. Centuries of criticism, of censure, of laws and penalties have no more succeeded in outlawing gambling than in outlawing war.

Why men want to bet—and women, too—is perhaps for the behaviorist psychologist to analyze, and I can tell you beforehand that whatever he says is a guess, because nobody knows.

I once watched a gang of women at that exceedingly dull game, bingo. It is pure gambling, involving no skill. It is therefore a stupid operation.

GAMBLING IS apparently a human trait and if the bull insists upon taking advantage of our weaknesses, he naturally must suffer the consequences. If the bull is such a wonder, why does he not clip off the ears of the matador and wear them on the tip of his tail?

The person who can answer that one can explain the great theological riddle of why man is different from all else in nature—so different that he can, on a hot day, when the temperature outside is 102 and up in the thousands in this room, write this silly article which no bull could do no matter how sired.

Here the smugglers await homing pigeons from Portuguese Macao, each bird with two ounces of illicit gold tied to its foot. Thousands of pigeons swooping down with millions in profits daily, some of it filling the Peiping treasury.

VICTOR RIESEL

Here, Detective Chief-Inspector Liu Fu found several thousand wooden dolls hollowed out for Communist opium smuggling into the U.S. It was estimated that 100 million dollars worth of the "stuff" eventually reached our country through San Francisco.

Here, I now can take you out to the Lok Ma Chou area where one of the smugglers' roads goes through the Bamboo Curtain into Red China, just a mile away across the rice paddies and the river. The police high on the mountain top seldom look down to see that the road is patrolled to prevent vital fuel and other desperately needed materials from being taken across to the Reds by Chinese "peasants."

OVER SUCH ROADS go tins of kerosene worth about one American dollar in Kowloon or Hong Kong — for which the Chinese Reds pay up to $8 in nearby Canton province (22 miles up the road from my hotel.)

Here, too, you can come along with me to the Sek Kip Mi village where many of the 750,000 refugees swelter in the sun, cut bricks and let their women do street construction work because they'd rather be beggers in free territory than live at home in Sovietized China.

Come mix with these people. See a mother weep softly, lying hungry on a frying pavement, while she watches her two-year-old run naked on the street because she doesn't have the pennies for even a tiny undershirt.

WALK AMONG THEM and their dung-filled streets. See proud people. Ask why they came across the border — just as I've seen refugees cross the Iron Curtain borders 10,000 miles away.

Hear a former Canton teamster, once owner of three trucks, savior of the lives of many of our boys in the China-Burma-Road theater during the war, report why he came out of Red China. Hear this former merchant, Henry Tai, tell you that it is illegal to have "ear talk" — to whisper — in Red China.

It is illegal to meet anywhere in Red China with five or more people, even if they are in your family. Hear him say that his children have been brainwashed. They couldn't come out with him. Red officials held them hostage, hoping for his return because he was taught by our Army to fix howitzers, Bren guns, rifles, tanks and other weapons.

THE PEIPING government is in dire need of military mechanics such as Henry. He would not return. They kept his family.

Hear, first hand, how those arrested — mostly landlords and business men — are assigned to battalions by the Peiping government and, sold like slaves of old for labor to the Russians who use them in Siberia on the fields, the railroads and in the mines. The Peiping government gets arms in exchange for this slave trade.

Hear how Chinese on the mainland die of starvation by the thousands while the Peiping government sells peanuts, chickens, eggs, pigs, ducks and other food to Hong Kong, and even as far as Europe's satellites, so it can raise cash for weapons for its 4½ million man army.

Hear how even the simple things, such as a single 78 rpm musical record goes for 17 dollars American.

HEAR HOW the refugees and the Hong Kong Chinese refer to the Communist controlled Bank of China here, which the British turned over to the Peiping government. The Chinese here call the bank "The Bloodsucker" as they point out the tall building on Hong Kong island.

It is called "Bloodsucker" because, by a trick of financial exchange, the Red bank takes half of the money the Chinese send back to their families inside Communist China. If you want to send money back to your folks, you must do it through this bank or another Communist facility.

Everywhere the bloodsuckers pile up foreign currency — all for arms and fuel — to be used against us eventually, of course.

And, oh yes, the Communist propaganda school, similar to the Jefferson Schools in the U.S., is located here on Waterloo Road. Let's hope that is symbolic for them.

Lincoln's Speech

By Ed Creagh

GETTYSBURG, Pa.

Almost 6,000 men had been killed in the battle. Hundreds more were dying by the day. Gettysburg—a peacefully bustling town today—was a charnel house in 1863.

So, to bury the dead, a cemetery was started. And a consecration ceremony was decided upon. That called for an orator. Edward Everett was the silver-tongued choice of all concerned.

Would he come? He would, he informed the committee, but he was a busy man. Couldn't they put the ceremony off a month or so?

They could and did—for Edward Everett. Then, pretty much as an afterthought, they sent an invitation to the President of the United States.

He came—on the date selected by Edward Everett.

Abraham Lincoln and his party came by train, after a horse-powered switch from one railroad to another at Baltimore. He walked from the station to David Wills' house in the village square.

THERE HE stayed the night. He knew he would be called upon to make a few remarks so he brought some notes from Washington. He didn't think much of this first draft so he called in the reigning expert. Edward Everett was not the first nor the last outside consultant called in to help on a presidential address.

In the end, though, it was Abe Lincoln's speech.

He wrote it, painstakingly, on a little oval table you still can see in a little room over a drugstore here in Gettysburg.

But he didn't get to deliver it on schedule.

For one thing, the parade to the cemetery was late in starting. Then Edward Everett was a half-hour late arriving at the cemetery. He'd been out inspecting the battlefield.

Every school child has been told what happened next. Everett spoke for two hours.

"Standing beneath this serene sky," he began, "overlooking these broad fields. . ."

Abraham Lincoln pumped Everett's hand and then spoke his own few words, starting "Fourscore and seven years ago. . ."

IT IS A TRIBUTE to his audience that those who could hear the President applauded — six times, according to the Adams Sentinel and General Advertiser's correspondent on the scene.

A few hours later, Lincoln stopped by at the Presbyterian Church—where another Republican President, Dwight D. Eisenhower sometimes worships today. Lincoln didn't stay for the end of the church exercises. His train to Washington was waiting.

Few people remember that, in the midst of all this tumult, Lincoln made another speech. A crowd gathered outside the Wills house and clamored for him. Finally, his tired figure loomed up in the doorway.

"I appear before you, fellow citizens," he said, "to thank you for the compliment. The inference is a fair one that you would hear me for a while, were I to commence to make a speech.

"I do not appear before you for the purpose of doing so, and for several substantial reasons. The most substantial is that I have nothing to say."

("Laughter," reported the newsman on the spot.)

"In my position," the President went on, "it is somewhat important that I should not say foolish things."

"It very often happens," concluded the President, "that the only way to help it is to say nothing at all. Believing that is my present condition this evening, I must beg you to excuse me from addressing you further."

What ever became of Edward Everett, anyway?

Excuse Okay Only Once, Judge Thinks

DAYTON, Ohio, (AP)—A man cited on a drunk charge went before Municipal Judge Neil F. Zimmers yesterday.

"I have to go to the dentist, judge, and I needed a little strength to get myself to go," the man explained.

"Case dismissed," said Judge Zimmers.

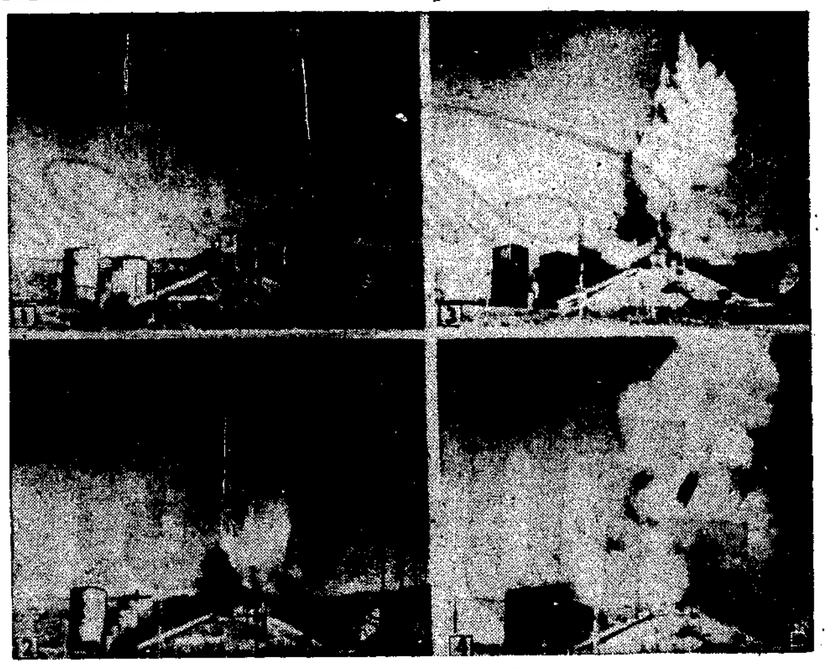
The next man up was appearing for his 89th time on a drunk charge. "Judge," he said, "I'm going to have an operation today and I've been trying to get the courage."

"Forty dollars and costs," said Zimmer.

Plant To Buy Diesels

CLEVELAND (AP) — Republic Steel Corp. yesterday said it would buy 11 diesel locomotives, costing about a million dollars, to complete dieselization of its hauling operations at its Cleveland steel plant. There are 15 diesels already in service at the plant, and the new ones will replace 14 steam locomotives.

Research men estimate the steel industry averages 10 years between a research idea and a saleable product.



REACTOR BLOWS UP IN SUDDEN BURST OF POWER. These photos show a nuclear reactor exploding under a sudden burst of power at Lemont, Ill. The experiment was described by Dr. Joseph R. Dietrich of the Argonne National laboratory at the UN international conference on peaceful use of atomic energy, Geneva, Switzerland. The reactor was built in 1953 and used in a long series of experiments to determine characteristics of a water-cooled, water-moderated reactor when operating under boiling conditions. At conclusion of the tests the reactor was subjected to one final test in which power was increased to more than 10,000 kilowatts in a tenth of a second, thus making the reactor "run away." What happened is shown in this series of photos: 1—The reactor just before the test. 2—Simultaneously with removal of the control rod, a dark grey column is ejected to a height of more than 80 feet. This was preceded by a flash of light from the tank which lasted three-thousandths second. The flash evidently was of nuclear origin. 3,4—Explosion continues to its height, at which portions of the reactor tank, control rod mechanism and core are hurled 80 feet. Fall-out danger extended only few hundred feet.

Jurors Examined

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—The trial of Jackson County Sheriff David L. Trago continued today as prosecution and defense attorneys questioned prospective jurors. Questioning of 11 was completed yesterday and three were dismissed, bringing the total dismissed to 14. Trago is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Gallipolis airman.

Hurricanes Hard on Business; Some Have International Effect

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Connie could be a very expensive young lady for business to entertain. The property owner isn't the only one to suffer when a hurricane starts a flirtation with the mainland.

Various businesses take a financial beating. But a few, after it's all over, stand to profit.

Last year's tempestuous ladies of the winds even had a hand in weakening the exchange value of the British pound sterling for a time.

And after the storms have passed, our ever present friend, the tax collector, gets into the act.

As a hurricane approaches the coast, utility and transportation companies round up emergency crews, stock up on repair materials. Airlines plot alternate routes, move planes out of the path, resign themselves to cancellations.

Resort owners shiver as much from the loss of business as from the prospect of property damage. With beaches closed to bathers, concession operators batten down for little or no business for awhile. Even the service stations see a drop in gasoline demand.

The aftermath of the storm is just as bad for the resort business. Not only damaged facilities and unsightly beaches, but also the psychological effect on would-be vacationers hammer at receipts.

Hazel, one of last year's big blows, cut a one billion dollar property damage path across eastern United States and Canada, to the distress of some insurance companies as well as many property owners.

Insurance payments had a strange aftermath. Seems British insurance companies were heavily involved, and since they had to pay in American or Canadian dollars their demand for the hard currency was one of the factors contributing to the temporary embarrassment of the British exchequer late last year. The pound sterling dropped.

When it's all over, the tax collector steps in. He'll allow deductions for property losses, but only over and above insurance payments. And he won't allow anything for the inconvenience, loss of business, or the expense of moving out of the storm's way.

Escaped Prisoner Taken in Norwood

CINCINNATI (AP) — An escapee from the Florida State Prison was arrested yesterday by detectives in suburban Norwood.

The man, identified by Detectives Meredith Dockum and Carl Merckel was James Emett Dees, 29, escaped from the Florida prison on June 1 after serving two years of a life sentence for rape.

Dees was found in an apartement where he lived with his wife of one month. Detectives said she did not know he was an escaped prisoner.

Dees offered no resistance and Dockum said Dees told him his prison number. The Norwood Detectives went to the apartment on a tip from the Cincinnati police.

Authorities in Florida said Dees escaped from a prison road camp near Fort Myers. He and two other men, all trusties, fled in an automobile belonging to a truck driver.

Dees was sentenced at Ocala, Fla.

Kiner Powers Tribe Into Lead on Grand Slammer

Athletics Assist With Win Over Sox; Yanks Nip Boston

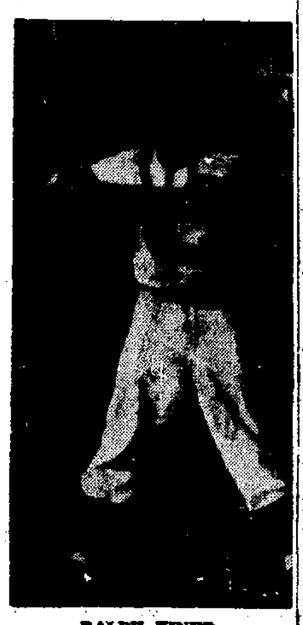
By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whoever thought the Kansas City Athletics would have a voice in the American League pennant race? Yet over the past two weeks, Lou Boudreau's sixth-place also-rans have thwarted the big contenders in five of nine meetings.

Wednesday night they rapped the Chicago White Sox out of first place with a 5-4 decision, leaving the way clear for Cleveland to claim the lead for the first time since May 21 as Ralph Kiner smacked a ninth-inning grand slammer to trim Detroit 6-4.

That left the Tribe two percentage points ahead of the White Sox, who in turn are four points to the good over New York after the Yankees' 3-2, 13-inning victory over Boston. The defeat sent the Red Sox two games behind.

The A's, who took two of three from Boston and split a four-game set with the Yanks before matching Chicago 1-1 in their three-game series, belted the Chisox for two first inning runs on back-to-back triples by Vic Power and Enos Slaughter. Hector Lopez then put them beyond reach with a home run and single that made it 5-2.



RALPH KINER
Blast in Ninth Lifts Tribe

Ends Threat

Chicago had just four hits in seven innings off winner Alex Kellner, one a two-run homer by Minnie Minoso, while the A's were belting Harry Byrd. Then when reliefer Tom Gorman opened the eighth, the Sox got two more runs, one on Bob Nieman's homer, before the righthander fanned Minoso with the bases loaded.

Cleveland had home runs by Al Rosen and Hal Naragon (his first in the majors), but trailed the Tigers 4-2 on the strength of Earl Torgeson's two-run shot off Mike Garcia in the seventh. Then after pinch singles by Hoot Evers and Hank Foiles and Al Smith's bunt single, Kiner put Al Aber's first pitch over the left-field fence.

Two innings earlier, Aber had relieved rookie Jim Bunning to fan Kiner with the bases loaded.

Kiner was booed lustily by the 16,778 fans at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium when he strode to the plate in the bottom of the ninth frame. He had been the second out in the Tribe's seventh after they had loaded the bases and failed to score.

Bunning managed to get Smith on a short fly to center and then Aber whizzed a fast ball past Kiner for the third strike and retired Vic Wertz on an infield grounder.

Don Mossi who relieved Mike Garcia in the eighth inning received credit for the win, his third of the campaign against a pair of losses.

Early Wynn is slated to pitch the finale of the three-game set this afternoon while the Tigers are expected to send Southpaw Billy Hoeft to the mound. Wynn will be seeking his 14th verdict of the year against seven losses. He hurled a one-hit 4-0 shutout in his last start against the Bengals.

An error by Billy Klaus and a drawn-in outfield that enabled Andy Carey to line a run-scoring single over the head of Ted Williams, broke up the Yank-Red Sox duel. Don Larsen, making it three straight since returning from the minors 11 days ago, took it over Frank Sullivan after New York had matched Grady Hatton's two-run single in the second with a pair in the third.

Rain postponed Washington at Baltimore in the only other American League game on tap.

In the National, Brooklyn topped New York 5-4 in a game called in the seventh by rain; St. Louis put second place Milwaukee 15 games back, 7-2; Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings, and Cincinnati took two at Chicago, 7-2 and 6-3.

Gil Hodges drove in three runs with a double and a single as the Dodgers packed their scoring in the first two frames. Karl Spoon-

3-Team Battle Shaping Up in IL Campaign

By The Associated Press

The International League pennant race is coming down to the wire with a three way scramble for first place.

With little more than three weeks remaining only 2½ games separate the first three teams today.

The Montreal Royals held on to their one game margin over the Toronto Maple Leafs last night by defeating the Rochester Red Wings 8-1, as the Maple Leafs edged the Buffalo Bisons 1-0 in a 5-inning game called by rain.

Both teams gained a half game on the idle Havana Sugar Kings. The Syracuse Chiefs, Columbus Jets and Richmond Virginians were also idle.

The Royals, who took over first place from the Leafs Sunday, have 34 games left. Toronto has 30 and the Cubans 32. The season ends Monday, September 5.

Little Leaguers Will Clash for Crown

THE LITTLE LEAGUE season is climaxed tonight on Robert Scott Field. Isaly Dairy and Vance Sporting Goods try again to wind up their three-game series which will determine the 1955 city Little League champion after rain which called off play last night. Game-time is 7:45 p.m.

LOWER: Isaly Dairy, American League titlists with a 14-4 record, attempts to make it two straight over Vance tonight. They bowed 10-4 in the series opener but came back Tuesday night to whip Vance 10-1. Members of the Isaly squad (left to right) are: Front Row: Carroll Flinchbaugh, Ricky Ishida, Cliff Mulvaine, John Gilbert, Floyd Kelly; Second Row: Chuck Paulus, George Norris, James Showers, Larry Pickett, Paul Alexander, Wayne Smith; and Third Row: Wilson Ishida, manager, Jim Jonsson, Gene Dulin, Randy Leedom and Larry Ishida. Coaches are Dick Kelley and Delmar Dulin.

Pony League's Title Contests Hit by Rainfall

Second series meeting between VFW and G&G Homes for the city Pony League championship was rained out last night at Lincoln Park.

The struggle has been reset for Friday at 6:15 p.m. prior to a previously scheduled Teen League tilt matching Pleasant and the Marion Elks which has been moved to 8 p.m.

A third game, if necessary, in the Pony League series will be played Saturday night, Charles Morbitt, president of the Baseball for Boys Commission, announced today.

Teen League playoffs are scheduled to begin Monday. Regular season play ends this week and in a sudden death double-header Monday at Lincoln Park, the No. 1 team will face the No. 3 squad and the No. 2 nine will play the No. 4 squad. A best two out of three game series for the county championship between the two survivors will then start the following night, Morbitt explained.

Tough Fight Seen

Browns Favored Over Stars By Two-Touchdown Margin

CHICAGO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are two-touchdown favorites to take the College All-Stars in their big battle at Soldier Field Friday night, but it may not be that easy.

After four years of famine—the last collegiate victory was the 17-7 defeat of the Philadelphia Eagles in 1950—promoters of the game (Chicago Tribune Charities) have introduced a streamlined all-star organization in an effort to turn the tide.

The new policy, announced last year after the all-stars' 31-6 defeat by Detroit, finds a hard-bitten crew of old pros led by Curly Lambeau of Green Bay Packer fame calling the shots instead of college coaches, as in former years.

Assisting Lambeau is Steve Owen, once head man of the New York Giants footballers; Hunk Anderson, creator of those tough-old-time Chicago Bear Lines, and Hamp Pool, until recently head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Those veteran mentors have substituted the wide-open, predominantly passing game of the pros for the more stereotyped play of the collegians. They also have hand-picked 49 huskies for the job at hand, rather than permitting 70 or 80 all-stars to clutter up the camp as in previous years.

This hand-picked "professional model" aggregation recently hung a 9-6 defeat on the Chicago Cardinals in a practice game.

The game was expected to be played under fair skies in a 60-degree temperature.

It will be televised nationally (8:30 p.m. EST-ABC).

Lambeau announced he will start an offensive backfield unit of Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame at quarterback; Dick Moegle of Rice and Dave Middleton of Auburn at halfbacks, and Wisconsin's Alan Ameche at fullback.

Toledo Sox Nip Saints To Take Third Position

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis, at the top of the pack in the American Association, last night won its seventh straight victory by humbling Charleston, 4-0. It was the 12th straight setback for the Senators.

A Louisville rally fell short as Denver beat the Colonels, 8-7, and Toledo moved into third place in the league race with an 8-4 triumph over the St. Paul Saints. Indianapolis and Omaha were idle.

Harry Nicholas shutout the Senators on five hits to give the Millers a sweep of their three-game series. In posting his eighth victory against five defeats, Nicholas didn't allow a Senator to reach third. Only three got as far as second. He struck out eight and walked four.

Toledo's third big inning in as many nights gave Bob Trowbridge his 13th victory of the season and a three-game sweep of the series.

St. Paul pitching, tagged for six runs in the first inning of the series opener and seven runs in the sixth inning Tuesday night, surrendered a 3-1 lead in the sixth inning last night when Toledo rallied for five runs.

Vince Garcia was the hitting star for Toledo with his two singles driving in four runs. Jim Pendleton homered for Toledo.

Reds Shoot For Fourth In NL Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Back on July 26 no one would have argued very much if you had said "the Reds are dead" as far as a first division berth is considered.

The Cincinnati Redlegs had just returned home from a disastrous road trip and were dangerously close to last place in the National League.

But they weren't "dead."

Since then the team has won 13 of 19 games and it made one of its biggest strides toward the first division yesterday as it swept a doubleheader from the Chicago Cubs, 7-2, and 6-3.

That left the Reds only a game and a half behind the fifth place Chicagoans and only two and a half games behind fourth place Philadelphia, which lost to Pittsburgh. They also picked up a game and a half on third place New York, which lost to Brooklyn. The Giants stand five games ahead of the Reds.

Much of that Redleg surge since July 26 can be attributed to the fine hitting of second baseman Johnny Temple and Gus Bell and the relief pitching of Hershell Freeman.

All three of them got into the act yesterday. Temple had three hits in 10 times at bat. Bell had a three for seven day and drove in a pair of runs and Freeman came in to save the first game after Don Gross had been shelled from the mound in the sixth. Freeman allowed only one hit the rest of the way.

Another big contributor to the Cincinnati drive has been pitcher Art Fowler. He has won three games since July 26, and went the route yesterday in beating the Cubs in the second game.

Helpful yesterday, too, was Ted Kluszewski who finally found the range with men on base. He drove in a run in the opener with a two for five hitting performance and brought in two runs in the second game with a three for five job which included his 37th home run of the season and the 200th of his career.

Kluszewski's home run came with Smokey Burgess on base. It was only the second time since July 2 that he had hit one of his home runs with men on base.

Four runs in the seventh clinched the first game verdict for the Reds.

Four singles, including a squeeze play bunt, accounted for two runs in the seventh inning of the nightcap which locked up that tilt.

The Reds executed two squeeze plays in that game.

The Cubs and the Reds will wind up their series today with Joe Black scheduled to pitch against Harry Perkowski, a former Redleg.

Kiner's Homer Puts Him With Top Sluggers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ralph Kiner, nearing 33 and the end of his major league playing career, has joined the ranks of those who have hit 13 or more grand slam home runs.

The veteran Cleveland outfielder hit No. 13 Wednesday night in a dramatic ninth inning as the Indians defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-4 and moved into first place in defense of their American League title.

The blow, hit off southpaw Al Aber after he had been fanned by the same pitcher in the seventh inning with the bases loaded, tied Kiner with Joe DiMaggio for fourth place among the major league sluggers.

Only Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Fox and Babe Ruth ever hit more.

Gehrig hit 23 during his career, Fox 17 and the Babe 16.

Wednesday's homer, the 14th of the year and the 365th of his career, also boosted Kiner's runs batted in figure to 1001. Only five other active players have driven in that many — Del Ennis, Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Mickey Vernon.

DEPARTURE TIME SET

The Marion Indians will leave Lincoln Park at 5:30 p.m. today for their Teen league assignment at Green Camp. Manager Joe Paulus urged his charges to report at the park promptly.

Local Nine in Play For District Crown

Erie No. 1, Marion's final entry in the district softball tournament, squares off against Mansfield Gorman-Rupp tonight at 9 p.m. on the Gorman-Rupp Field.

Play is now in the semifinal stage and action from here on out is double-elimination.

The opener pits Mount Vernon Victory Market against another Mount Vernon nine, American Legion, at 7:30 p.m.

Rain cancelled play last night. Erie advanced to the semifinal round by elminating Mac's Trading Post 5-2 Tuesday night behind a two-hit effort by Bud Thorpe.

Coaches Name Team Captains For Grid Play

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Offensive and defensive captains for the North and South teams were named today in preparation for tomorrow night's 10th annual Ohio High school North-South football game.

Joe Morrison of Lima, a six foot, 180-pound quarterback, will be offensive captain for the North. John Kombara of Canton McKinley, a 19-year-old, six-foot-two, 240-pound tackle, who wears a full beard, will be North defensie captain.

For the South, John Herrnstein 17-year-old, 240-pound, six-fot-2½ fullback from Chillicothe will be offensive captain. Dick Selcer, 17-year-year-old, five-foot-nine, 170-pound quarterback from Cincinnati Elder will be defensive captain.

Because of the closeness of the vote, the South's defensive team will be captained by Charlie Crumine, 18-year-old, 203-pound, five-foot-11 fullback from Cincinnati Hughes when Selcer is not playing.

The contest tomorrow shapes up to be an all-out affair, and not merely an exhibition.

Mel Knowlton of Alliance, North coach, and Larry Petersen of Lancaster, the South mentor, said they had no agreement to use only certain defenses and permit scouting of practice sessions by their rivals. This has been done in some previous games.

Scouting has been banned for this coming game. Coaches will be able to use any defense they think can stop the opposition.

Offensively, the North will use the straight T-formation while the South will rely on the split-T.

Yesterday, practice sessions tapered off slightly as both coaches said they felt their 25-man squads were in top shape.

The "ouchy" ankle of halfback Don Cark of Akron Central is the only injury being nursed on the North side. A twisted knee of Curt Gentry, South halfback from Portsmouth, may cause him to surrender his job to Phil Robinson of Columbus East.

Because there will be no spot radio or television coverage of the game, fans are flocking for tickets. More than 4,000 had been sold by noon yesterday.

There were no takers on the $6,000 price asked for broadcasting the game. Radio station WMAN of Mansfield will record a play-by-play report of the contest for broadcast at 12:45 p.m. Saturday.

HENNEY & COOPER PICTURE TALK
by Kent

"I want to take some pictures at a picnic this afternoon and I want them to be GOOD," she said, plopping her camera down on the counter. "I've been trying all summer, and if I pose the people in the sun they squint; if I put them in the shade their faces are dark. What shall I do?"

"Use flash," we told her.

"Flash; in the DAYTIME?" Are you crazy?"

We refrained from comment; explained to her that flash was really quite useful and entirely practical before night. She finally got the message, went happily on her way. Later she brought the film in for processing, picked up her prints a few days later, was delighted with them. FLASH had done the trick.

Try it yourself. Come in, we'll explain it to you.

* * * *

Have you used PLUS-X FILM lately? Plus-X has always been a premium priced roll, but now it costs the same as Verichrome in popular 120-620 sizes. For simple-type cameras it shoots the same as Verichrome, but is a little more sensitive to flash, responds to all popular filters, and is very fine grain, which means BIG enlargements are possible, providing, of course, that your exposure was right. It's also available in 828 and 135 sizes.

* * * *

Let us remind you: DON'T KEEP YOUR CAMERA OR FILM IN THE GLOVE COMPARTMENT OR REAR WINDOW LEDGE OF YOUR CAR WHEN TRAVELING, or anytime, for that matter. TOO HOT!

Dodgers Need 28 Wins To Nail Flag

BROOKLYN (AP)—Clinching day for the Dodgers is drawing close. The magic number is down to 28.

If Brooklyn wins 28 of its remaining 42 games, it would win the National League flag even if the second place Milwaukee Braves swept the 42 games left on their schedule.

Any combination of 28 Dodger victories or Braves' defeats will put the Brooks in the World Series.

Hawaiians Give Gala Welcome To U.S. Fliers

11 Returning Airmen Have Night on Town; Head for U.S. Tonight

HONOLULU (AP) — Eleven U.S. Airmen leave Hawaii in two transport planes late today, heading for California and reunions this weekend with loved ones they haven't seen for years.

The airmen, freed in Hong Kong last week after 32 grim months as prisoners of the Chinese Communists, are due at Travis Air Force base, northeast of San Francisco at 8 a.m. (10 a.m. EST), Friday.

At Travis they will be transferred to other planes and whisked to airports nearest their homes.

They are relaxing in balmy Hawaii. They reached here in excellent spirits, and were greeted by two of Hawaii's prettiest maidens, armed with flower leis and quick to present the traditional aloha kiss.

They were out on the town Wednesday night, after politely refusing an offer of a nine - course Chinese dinner. Spencer Weaver, owner of several elegant restaurants, hosted the men with steaks and Hawaiian entertainment at his nightclub.

A Pentagon Air Force information officer, Maj. William McGinty, told reporters at a news conference to stay clear of torture and other such subjects, pointing out the men had been through that in two previous conferences.

McGinty also asked that Airman Daniel C. Schmidt not be questioned on his family problems.

"The Air Force is very proud of the way this boy has conducted himself in this affair. He would like a little privacy," McGinty said.

Schmidt's wife, Una, says she married a California logger last year. She said she thought the airman was dead. She has left her second husband to decide her future after she meets Schmidt, father of her son.

Traffic Cases

Three motorists were fined a total of $45 and costs in Marion Municipal Court Wednesday on traffic violation charges.

Two were fined for driving the wrong way on a one-way street. They were Charles P. Lanhan, 24, of 311 S. State St., who was fined $15 and costs, and William Edwards, 37, of 1121 W. Center St., who was given a suspended fine of $15 and costs.

The other motorist appearing in court Wednesday was Gerald E. Thomas, 18, of 474 Avondale Ave., who was fined $15 and costs for speeding and driving with a defective muffler.

OSU Scientist Predicts Trip to Moon by 1985

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Prof. Fred A. Hitchcock, director of the aviation physiology laboratory at Ohio State University, predicts the first trip to the moon will be made in 1985.

Hitchcock's paper on space travel was read last week to the sixth International Astronautical Congress in Denmark. In it he visualized a moon expedition by scientists in a stainless steel rocket.

He told a newsman he felt President Eisenhower's announcement of the launching of a satellite above the earth in 1958 indicates a concerted effort is to be made in regard to moon travel.

Child Slain by Dogs

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A 21-month-old boy was mauled and killed by vicious dogs Wednesday.

He was Danny Betz of suburban Birchwood Park. His mother, Mrs. Lavelle Betz, found him in the midst of a snarling dog pack. He died an hour later in a hospital. His body was covered with deep gashes, the hospital said.

Recommendations Of Board in Rail Dispute Accepted

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's railroads today announced acceptance of recommendations of President Eisenhower's Emergency Board in their wage-rules dispute with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

However, the union has not accepted the recommendations. It has announced willingness to reopen negotiations, which have been deadlocked since May.

The board, reporting Aug. 1, recommended varying pay increases for yard workers represented by the union when they convert to a five-day week.

Most firemen would receive a 12½-cent hourly increase under the recommendations when they go on the shorter work week.

The board also recommended that the parties negotiate further on the changes in working rules which the carriers said they proposed in the interest of more efficient railroad service to the public. The board also recommended that rules be arbitrated if the parties are unable to reach agreement.

Under the recommendations, the pay increase to yard firemen will not be granted unless and until a five-day-week is put in effect on all railroads. Present contracts give yard workers the option of deciding on each railroad when they will convert to a five-day week.

Spokesmen for the carriers said "the railroads' acceptance of the recommendations is based on the principle that all of the board's recommendations will be made effective and not just a part of them."

4-H Club News

Work was started on the booth for the county fair when the Meeker Homemakers 4-H Club met Monday afternoon. Plans were completed for a guest tea set for Wednesday night at the church. Next regular meeting will be Monday at 7:30 p.m.

A demonstration by Janet Zieg and Rosemary Pfeiffer on how to freeze fruit and vegetables was the highlight of the Green Camp Senior Busy Bees 4-H Club Monday night at the home of club advisor, Mrs. Vernon Davis. Girls were reminded of the grading day Aug. 12. Articles were made to be used in the decorating the county fair booth. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Plans Return

Babe Zaharias Leaves Bed In Battle Against Cancer

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Babe Didrikson Zaharias cautiously got out of a hospital bed to show that she wasn't licked yet—and was determined to win her second battle with cancer.

The world's greatest woman athlete said, "get my shoes," when her husband encouragingly told her:

"Show us how you can walk. They hear all this talk about your being sick and may think you can't walk."

George Zaharias, the former "Weeping Greek" of wrestling fame, beamed happily as the Babe cautiously left her bed and walked around the room.

The Babe was making plans to return to competitive golf next season when Zaharis and a visitor entered her John Sealy Hospital room.

"It's my right foot that bothers me," she explained, "but it is much better after the treatments."

Babe began receiving X-ray treatments last Thursday, minutes after doctors told her a "small cancer lesion" in the pelvic area was the cause of pain that persisted after a successful spinal disc operation June 22.

It was a recurrence, a possibility that haunts many patients who have won a bout with cancer. In 1953, in Beaumont, the Babe underwent surgery for removal of a rectal malignancy.

Doctors were uncertain as to her golf future after the Beaumont operation but four months later she placed third at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter and won the Women's National Open at Peabody, Mass., in July 1954.

No surgery is planned this time, at least for the present. Both the Babe and George recognize they face another tough battle. Both are confident.

The X-ray treatments at the University of Texas Hospital are expected to continue another 10 to 15 days.

After that?

"We're going to do just what our doctors tell us," George said.

"We believe in our doctors here and feel that what can be done will be done here. We are hopeful, just like before, The Babe will come out of it and believe she will. She's responding very well. She has less pain day by day."

Postmasters Directed To Cut Down Expenses

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Post Office Department said Wednesday postmasters everywhere have been directed to cut expenses where possible and reduce the use of temporary or substitute employes.

The department said the action was necessary because of a reduced appropriation for the current fiscal year, but added that no regular employe would be let out or forced to take a reduction in hours.

The AFL National Federation of Post Office Clerks said the cutback could mean 25,000 substitutes would get a pay reduction, through a reduction in hours, despite a recent hike in the hourly rates.

Cracking Photosynthesis Secret

Russians Think Solution To Mystery of Life Near

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet scientists told the atoms-for-peace conference today they believe they are on the verge of solving the mystery of photosynthesis — nature's ingenious method of feeding the world.

Discoveries Reported

A. L. Kursanov told the 72-nation parley that the Russians, using radioactive isotopes as tracers in plant studies, have found out a number of things about the process in which green plants under sunlight convert carbon dioxide and water into the sugars and starches that men and animals eat.

Men of science have long sought the secret of this process, hoping to duplicate it artificially as a help with the world's food problems. American scientists also have reported progress toward working out the puzzle.

Kursanov reported the Russians have found that proteins as well as carbohydrates are direct products of photosynthesis in plant leaves. He said that carbohydrates are formed under the influence of the red and yellow parts of sunlight while proteins are formed under the influence of blue light.

Report on Prospecting

The United States, Canada and Russia reported on extensive aerial prospecting for uranium and thorium in addition to their widespread ground prospecting.

A U.S. paper said aerial surveys by multi-engined planes at altitudes of 500 feet are used to spot radioactivity in "broad areas not previously known to contain uranium or thorium deposits."

Then light single - engine planes fly at 60 miles an hour 50 to 100 feet above ground to pin point deposits.

Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the American Atomic Energy Commission, said the United States is trying to determined whether H-bomb energy can be harnessed for peaceful purposes. But, he added, "there's nothing in the way of a break-through" and it looks like "a very long range project."

Strauss told a news conference the United States has been "working on the subject for a considerable time."

Strauss, declaring there is no basic scientific principle to say that harnessing of fusion energy—as opposed to fission energy developed in the A-bomb — can not be achieved, asserted "We do not know that it is impossible."

He said progress is being made in the research but added: "remember, you also make progress when you find that something cannot be done." He amplified this later to say that "some progress is being made in a positive sense and progress is also being made in a negative sense."

TO CATCH A THIEF

INDIANAPOLIS, (INS) — Willard F. Kelley of Indianapolis who has reformed after admitting that he has stolen 400 automobiles, has invented a new gadget to combat car theft. As the criminal is driving the automobile away, the word "stolen" flashes on and off in large red letters from a special tail light.

General Motors has 127 plants in the United States.

Hays Planning To Open Boom For Kefauver

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Chattanooga Times said today Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) "is planning to move within three months to project Sen. Estes Kefauver into Ohio's 1956 presidential primary."

The article, written under a Washington dateline by Times correspondent Charles Bartlett, said the Ohio congressman plans to go ahead "without waiting to hear the Tennessean's decision as to whether he is a candidate."

Bartlett wrote:

"Hays, a 1952 booster of Kefauver (for president), is known to be prepared to start the boom for the Tennessee senator in early November, well ahead of the late-fall deadline which Kefauver is said to have set for himself on the decision of whether to run.

"Hays' plan is in no way contingent upon the course of Ohio's' Gov. Frank Lausche, who has refused to indicate whether he will run next year for president, senator or for reelection. Some in Ohio were reported today to be saying that Lausche is interested only in becoming president of Ohio State University."

The story added that Hays "is a close personal friend of Kefauver's and while there is no evidence that he is making these preparations with the Tennessean's consent, it is extremely unlikely that he would move in opposition to his wishes."

Kefauver, who is presiding at a Nashville subcommittee hearing on juvenile delinquency, was quoted by the Times as saying he is not a candidate now and has made no decision about the future.

LIGHT MILES

BLOOMFIELD, N. J. (INS) — More than 6,800 miles of mercury-lighted streets and highways in the U. S. today are helping substantially to speed traffic and reduce crime, lighting experts report. Last year alone over 1,800 miles of this highly efficient type of street illumination was installed.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—A selective rally in the stock market today pushed some issues up around two points.

There was little interest, however, in the bulk of the list and most price changes were small in either direction in early afternoon.

Trading was light. Wednesday's volume of 1,580,000 shares was the smallest since June 1954. Standard Oil (NJ), Union Carbide and Chrysler were singled out for attention and scored good gains.

Other shares showing gains included Kennecott, Anaconda, U. S. Steel, Goodrich, United Aircraft (on increased earnings), Southern Pacific, Western Maryland and U. S. Gypsum.

U. S. government bonds were steady.

Corn Crop of Nearly 3½ Billion Bushels Is Predicted by USDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department Wednesday forecast this year's corn crop at 3,477,711,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 910,958,000 bushels.

The corn figure is 28,044,000 bushels more than 3,449,867,000 forecast by the department a month ago. It compares also with 2,964,639,000 produced last year and 3,080,115,000 for the 10-year (1944-53) average.

Goal Is 3 Billion

The corn estimate also compares with a government production goal of about three billion bushels set up under an acreage planting allotment program.

The wheat estimate is 50,627,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 860,331,000 bushels. It compares with last year's crop of 969,781,000 and with the 10-year average of 1,154,073,000.

Wheat was grown under rigid marketing quotas seeking a crop of around 900 million bushels. But record reserves and surpluses assure ample supplies.

The wheat crop included 689,403,000 bushels of winter wheat, 221,555,000 bushels of spring wheat other than durum and 14,293,000 bushels of durum.

Last month the department forecast a winter wheat crop of 663,043,000 compared with 790,044,000 produced last year and 867,390,000 for the 10-year average.

Cavaliers Present Award To Bird-McGinnis Post

A trophy for a third place rating won by The Cavaliers, Marion Drum and Bugle Corps, in Midwest Corps competition Sunday at Portland, Ind., was presented to Bird - McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, at the post meeting Tuesday night in the Dugout.

It is the first trophy won by the Corps in competition since its organization a few years ago.

The presentation was made by Dr. Gerald W. Strauss, president of The Cavaliers, and receiving it for the post was D. J. Malloy, commander.

DR. STRAUSS announced to the post plans for The Cavaliers to go by chartered plane to the national Legion convention in Miami, Fla., in October. Legionnaires in the Sixth District, of which Marion is a part, are expected to make up the remainder of the 65 reservations needed to fill the plane. Legion members and their friends who wish to go by plane on the four-day trip can apply for reservations to officers of the post or the Drum and Bugle Corps.

Don Williams was appointed publicity officer for the Midwest Drum and Bugle Corps Pageant to be staged at the Harding High School stadium Sept. 11. Seven Ohio units along with a unit from Indiana and another from Michigan will participate.

Committees to serve for the year were announced by Commander Malloy as follows: executive board, Dr. Strauss, Don Williams, Clifford W. Chapman and R. E. They Want Husbands, Chance To Stay in West

Austrian Men Chased by Russian Girls

LINZ, Austria (NANA) — Two Russian girls entered a small coffee house recently in the Soviet sector of Vienna.

Shyly, they approached a Vienna University chemistry student, who was sitting at a back table, and asked to join him. After the coffee was served, the girls started a conversation.

They praised Austria and the friendliness of the Austrians and then got down to business. They wanted to find Austrians to marry—so they would become Austrian citizens and be able to remain in the West after the Soviets leave.

THE GIRLS were insistent. Love was no object. Neither, apparently, was money. The girls, secretaries in a Soviet military headquarters, laid their cards on the table.

They would pay 50,000 schillings—nearly $2,000—for Austrian citizenship via marriage. And they guaranteed to give their Austrian spouses divorces at the earliest feasible moment.

This scene is repeated every day in one form or another throughout Austria's Russian zone as the Soviet forces withdraw. Russian girls, having acquired a taste for western feminine luxuries, are digging in to stay in the West.

The obvious way is to acquire Austrian citizenship through marriage.

Never, it is safe to say, have Austrian males been so highly prized.

Take Natasha, a pretty 20-year-old bookkeeper, in one of the plants seized by the Soviets as German war booty. Natasha set her cap for an Austrian foreman in the plant, but Franz, the foreman, already married, was circumspectly elusive.

Finally, Natasha told him bluntly, "I will pay you 10,000 schillings"—about $400. Natasha took Franz' laughing turndown in good grace, saying, "you are worth half a million schillings, my pretty Franz, but, unfortunately, I have only 10,000."

The Soviets forbid Soviet-Austrian marriages in their zone of Austria. Any Russian girl who nails an Austrian male must take him to the western zone of Austria for the nuptials.

NO SOONER had Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab returned from Moscow last April with a Soviet promise of freedom for his country than the Russian girls attached to the 40,000-strong Red Army forces in Austria began frantic efforts to raise cash for dowries.

There are no figures on the number of Soviet women attached to the Russian occupation forces in Austria. But some estimates put the figure as high as 2,000, excluding wives of Red army men and Soviet officials.

Many Russian girls are employed by USIA, the Soviet industrial empire the Russians have been operating in Austria through control of former German properties.

The girls' desire to evade return to Russia is so strong that few of them make much pretense of concealing it. In the spa park at Baden, the Soviet headquarters on the outskirts of Vienna, Russian stenographers cluster on park benches to ogle passing Austrian males.

Any male who gives the girls even casual encouragement is relentlessly pursued. Soviet authorities, apparently satisfied that few of the girls will make the grade, are taking little overt action to rein them in.

Luckiest of the capitalist-struck Russian girls are the bilinguals (Russian-German) with sound professional, business or nursing backgrounds. They can dispense with husband-hunting and get jobs in western Austria.

AMONG THE Austrians there is little wonder that Soviet women should fight so tenaciously against going home. The Austrians remember when the girls first arrived, looking shabby and frightened.

They have watched, half amused, half resentful, while Natasha and Ludmilla and Sonia graduated from cotton stockings to nylons and exchanged their calico dresses for Viennese silks. Lodged at one of Baden's swank prewar resort hotels, the Hotel Herzog-park, the Russian girls got their first taste of high-living—and they liked it.

Home was never like the Austrian occupation.

Not many of the girls would be mistaken for ballerinas from the Bolshoi theater But they have come a long way.

Most pathetic are the Red army wives. While the stenographers and clerks have a slim chance of staying in the golden west, the wives have no place to go but back to the Red paradise. So the sergeants' wives crowd the shops to buy nylons, and the officers' wives to buy furs and watches. After that off they go to Russia, trudging to the train through the streets of Baden with their bulging suitcases and looking not at all happy.

Asch Controversial Figure

Israelis Split by Dispute Centering on U.S. Writer

TEL AVIV (NANA) — A controversy the size of all Israel today centered on a single house under construction at a resort center near Tel Aviv.

The builder is Sholem Asch, the world - famed novelist, and the grandson of a rabbi who has decided to return to the land of his forebears.

When Asch, a U. S. resident since 1910, with his most recent home in Miami Beach, broke ground for a permanent Israel home, the event split the nation along religious lines.

Artists, scholars, and government officials accorded him a hero's welcome. But the nation's traditionally orthodox leaders expressed horror. To them Asch's name has been taboo for 15 years.

THE SON OF a Polish innkeeper and a rabbi's daughter, Asch, now 74, won literary acclaim in 1939 with publication of "The Nazarene," the most successful and sympathetic fictionalized treatment of the life and works of Jesus ever attempted by a Jewish author. Among more than a dozen other works by the white-maned Asch are "East River," "The Apostle," "Mary" and "A Passage in the Night."

Publication of "The Nazarene," while earning Asch the praise of liberal Jewish readers, brought upon his head the scorn of the orthodox Jewish fraternity. Traditional coreligionists called him a "traitor" and "Christian preacher" and pointed to the book as a "sure pathway of apostasy." Authorship of later books, including "Mary," brought such intenze pressure that the New York Yiddish newspaper, the "Daily Forward," which had hitherto printed Asch's articles liberally, refused him space for any further publication.

Asch has consistently denied rumors that he had been converted to Christianity.

A warm affinity between the author and the Biblical land that has provided the setting for his most famous books has grown since Asch first visited Palestine in 1907. An American citizen for the last 15 years, the author realized a long cherished dream with the "Nazarene's" first Hebrew publication two years ago in Israel.

THE BOOK'S reception, however, again brought dispute as orthodox groups held mass demonstrations and plastered Jerusalem's walls with posters proclaiming the controversial author "traitor Asch."

The cleavage in Israeli public opinion on the matter was again spotlighted during Asch's visit last year. Cheered by packed auditoriums in Haifa, honored at high-level government receptions in Tel Aviv, Asch was barred from entering Jerusalem's leading synagogue during the traditional "celebration of the Torah" ceremonies.

In an interview at that time, the novelist made no effort to hide his bitterness and disappointment. He dismissed the conversion rumors as the fabrications of "foul and dirty people who have put statements in my mouth which I have never uttered."

He asserted that he was first and last an artist, not a theologian or a reformer; that his books were no more than an attempt to break down walls of fear and prejudice. "The Nazarene," the "Apostle" and "Mary" are, according to Asch, living proof that a Jew can speak sanely and understandingly of Jesus without first undergoing baptism and renouncing his faith.

He warned that unless Israel aspired to the role of a "humble Levantine nation" she would have to break all barriers of religious intolerance.

It was during this interview that Asch first hinted of his intention to settle in Israel. In response to a reporter's question he amazed all present by declaring: "Yes, I will come back here to stay—if I am not interfered with in my work, if they let me live in peace."

Asch has apparently decided to take that chance, as certified by the home he is building at the resort called Bat Yam.

Picnic Scheduled For Crawford 4-H Members on Friday

BUCYRUS — Between 400 and 500 Crawford County members of boys' and girls' 4-H clubs are expected to attend the annual county-wide 4-H picnic to be held Friday afternoon and night at Aumiller Park in Bucyrus.

The picnic will be supervised by Miss Louise Augenstein, county home demonstration agent, and John Cole, associate county agent. Opening the afternoon activities will be swimming from 2 to 5 p.m. A recreation and fun period has been scheduled by the Junior Leadership Club from 5:30 to 7 p.m. when the picnic supper will be served.

Table service will be furnished and each 4-H girl is to bring a covered dish while the boys' clubs will pay for sandwiches and beverages.

Parents of members, together with club advisers and their families, are invited to attend the outing, which will close with a vesper service conducted by the Junior Leadership Club.

In case of rain, the picnic will be held Aug. 19.

HUNGRY NO DOUBT

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UP) — A burglar who broke into the home of John S. Brayton left empty-handed — but not with an empty stomach. While in the house the intruder ate two cans of spaghetti.

ARTISTS HAVE NOW GONE UNDER WATER. Artist Dan Manser, garbed in skin-diver's equipment, paints an underwater marine scene while fish swim around him at Marineland near Palos Verdes, Calif. In order to capture the beauty beneath the sea the artists use oil paints on temperated masonite. Artist Manser demonstrates how this is done at Marineland where a display of his and several other artists work will be held.

Dedication of New School Building in Carey Slated Oct. 2

CAREY — Dedication of the new Our Lady of Consolation School in Carey is scheduled for Oct. 2.

The building is nearing completion and will be ready for use in September. The school is constructed of brick, block and stone and includes four classrooms, a large auditorium, modern equipped kitchen and cafeteria, meeting and storage rooms and also an office for the Carey Poverello Credit Union. The auditorium is arranged for basketball, volleyball and shuffleboard.

The new school, which has been badly needed for some time, will also offer greater facilities for meal service to the pilgrims who annually visit the Shrine of Our Lady of Consolation during August.

The first three grades will be housed in the new school with a total of about 150 pupils. The old school will serve pupils of the five upper grades, numbering about 115.

One additional instructor has been added to the staff of Sisters of St. Francis, making a total of seven.

NEW WHEAT PRODUCT

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UP)—Fisher Flouring Mills of Seattle announced here it plans to test a Middle East wheat food known as piloff on the northwestern market. To be marketed here as "All," the food is a product of soft white wheat grown in Washington and is considered a possible partial solution to the area's huge wheat surpluses.

Zog Leaves Egypt Under Bond; Land No Longer Kings' Haven

CAIRO (NANA) — Egypt, once the hospitable haven of Europe's deposed monarchs and title-shorn royal families, has bid farewell to the last ex-king of its soil.

He is former King Ahmed Zog of Albania, a tiny Balkan country now under communist domination. Zog, his beautiful Hungarian wife, Queen Geraldine, his 17-year-old hot-rod-driving son, Crown Prince Alexander, and the entire Albanian royal household numbering several scores has embarked from Alexandria, leaving Egypt for good.

Zog remained behind in republican, anti-monarchist Egypt after all the other kings and ex-kings had packed up and gone because Egyptian authorities barred him from leaving until he had settled accounts with the internal revenue and customs departments.

Zog was accused of importing customs-free into Egypt valuable treasures as his personal belongings and then reselling them in the country. The Egyptians charged him with misusing his privileges as a royal exile in Egypt and making a fast dollar as ex-King Farouk's favorite pal and kinsman. (King Farouk himself is of Albanian-Turkish origin.)

Zog's case is still pending before Egyptian courts, but he was finally allowed to leave, after depositing $30,000 "bond" in Egyptian banks to cover the fines which may be imposed for tax evasion and smuggling, in case he loses out on the customs and revenue department.

Zog will spend the summer in France and then will settle permanently in the United States in a $300,000 estate in Long Island, which he bought after Farouk was ousted from Egypt.

King Zog is reportedly taking with him his $60,000 crown, family jewels estimated at $150,000 and a library, said to be one of the best in the world.

As long as Farouk reigned in Egypt, Zog was comfortably settled in Alexandria where he had bought a palace, was treated as a reigning royalty by Egyptian authorities, and was in Farouk's constant night-time company.

Other deposed European royalty who made their homes in Egypt for many years before moving on to more hospitable shores included the late King Emmanuel III of Italy, his son King Umbergo, who is now in Portugal, the boy-king Simeon of Bulgaria, and King Peter of Yugoslavia.

Special Painting Slated

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—An 84-year-old Negro portrays the history of his race with a paint brush.

Charles Osburne has painted 30 pictures during the past 10 years. They portray the Negro from slave days to his present-day participaiton in American culture.

Osburne is a retired restoration man and artist for the Mirsky Galleries.

"My ambition," he says, "is to leave a visual record of my race for the world."

About 25,000 Americans die in accidents each summer.

Bucyrus Group Studies Traffic Light Transfer

BUCYRUS—The municipal traffic commission here is studying the transfer of traffic lights.

Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert has recommended to the commission that a traffic light, which has not been in use for several months at the postoffice corner, be transferred to W. Mansfield and Spring Sts. on Route 30-N. He said the light has an automatic-timer and could be regulated to go on yellow at midnight. He said the flashing caution light should eliminate some truck noises in the area late at night.

The postoffice corner has been made a four-way stop intersection.

Morrow Fair Opens Aug. 16

Stock Car Races Slated To Close '55 Program

MOUNT GILEAD — A record number of entries is scheduled for the 1955 Morrow County Fair which opens here next Tuesday night and continues through Saturday afternoon.

The fair will open at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, August 16, with a free pony show in front of the grandstand scheduled for the opening night program. On Wednesday night Joie Chitwood's auto thrill show is scheduled and on Thursday night the attraction will be Mardi Gras Revels, consisting of variety acts, trained animals, etc. For the final night show, Bill Byrons' Wild West Ranch will be featured. There will be no night show on Saturday this year.

Harness racing will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons with $2,000 in purses each day for the four events. On Saturday afternoon, stock car races will replace the regular third day of harness racing.

The tractor pulling contest will start Wednesday morning and the State Hereford Association will hold its annual show at the fair.

The Junior Fair again is expected to increase in size and interest over previous years, Dwight McClarren, fair board secretary, said. Walter Long is the board president.

Deadline for fair entries was Saturday.

BAD GUESS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—The next time East Grand Rapids buys a fire engine, officials are certain to use a tape measure. A new pumper purchased recently proved to be wider than the station house doors. It cost a tidy sum to rip out a brick wall and make a new entrance for the pumper.

Quick Loaf for a Tasty Summer Meal

Oatmeal Nut Bread Goes Well With Cold Cuts, Salads and Snacks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Quick loaves have a real place in summer meals. Stored in a tightly covered container or wrapped tightly and refrigerated, they do not dry out. Sliced thin, they last for a number of days and cut down on baking.

They are so versatile they fit nicely into hot - weather meals. Serve our Oatmeal Nut Bread, for instance, with cold cuts and a vegetable salad; with fish or poultry and a hot vegetable; with a fruit and cottage cheese salad; or at snacktime.

So one of these mornings, before the heat of the day is on full force, bake one of these loaves to have on hand for good eating. Or make a couple of them and put one loaf in your freezer; slices of the frozen bread may be put in the toaster or under the broiling unit of your range.

The trick in making most quick loaves is to mix lightly. Too much mixing produces tunnels, is inclined to make a loaf tough. When a recipe directs you to "mix only until dry ingredients are moistened," do just that.

To make quick loaves most successfully, you ought to use the standard measuring cups and spoons you would in making a perfect cake. A standard glass measuring cup is fine for liquids. Standard graduated metal measuring cups — each set with four pieces, one holding ¼ cup, one holding 1-3 cup, one holding ½ cup and one holding 1 cup — are best for measuring dry ingredients.

A nest of sturdy mixing bowls in assorted sizes are also a help. So are wooden mixing spoons with either a solid bowl that is on the flat side, or a slotted bowl. If directions call for beating the eggs until thick and lemon- or ivory-colored, you'll need a rotary egg beater (hand or electric). If the egg needs to be beaten only slightly (just until the yolk and white are combined), you can use a small whisk or even a fork.

When a quick-loaf recipe calls for "shortening," you can use butter, margarine or a hydrogenated vegetable fat. And some cooks like to use a salad oil (but not olive oil) in place of any of these fats (when they are to be melted) because the salad oil is already liquid.

Most quick-loaf recipes use regular flour; if a pastry flour or cake flour is specified, it should of course be used.

The egg or eggs called for in a quick-loaf recipe will add moistness, nutritive value, color and flavor. Old-fashioned recipes for quick loaves were more likely to omit egg than are modern ones.

VERSATILE. Quick loaves like this fit nicely into meals planned for the hot weather.

If you have your dry ingredients such as flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt near each other in a convenient place —along with your sifter — you'll find time is saved in preparation. Before you begin the recipe, get out the size pan required and prepare it as directed — usually this means greasing the bottom and sides of the pan.

Our Oatmeal Nut Bread recipe may be varied. You may want to cut down on the nuts and add chopped dates or some raisins. This is a good idea if the bread is to be served to small fry at snacktime. You may also want to subsitute pecans, for instance, for the walnuts.

OATMEAL NUT BREAD

Ingredients: 1¾ cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned)), 1 cup coarsely broken walnut meats, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, ¾ cup sugar.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in rolled oats and walnuts. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; beat in milk and sugar to combine. Add flour mixture; mix only dry ingredients are moistened Turn into loaf pan (1 pound size) after lining the bottom of the pan with paper and greasing the paper. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out of pan onto cooling rack. When bread is cold, store in tightly covered container overnight or one day before slicing.

TIME TO RETIRE

STEWARTVILLE, Minn. (UP)—Claude Bentley retired in January after serving as a rural mail carrier since 1905. He served under nine presidents and five postmasters. He started out in the horse and buggy days, used 30 horses, 1 Saxon car and 36 Fords. His total mileage was 650,000 or 26 times around the world.

Although skunks sometimes destroy birds, they are regarded as valuable for destruction of crop pests.

Britons, New Yorkers Stirred by Recent Events

To Shave or Not?—Debate Grows Hot

NEW YORK (NANA)—To shave or not to shave? It's been the question of late from New York to London.

In New York, the State Department of Labor defended the right of a man to grow a beard and ruled it was no reason why he should be denied unemployment compensation. The man had been discharged from his job as a swimming pool attendant because he would not shave off his VanDyke and a local unemployment office grounds he should have complied with his employer's wishes.

The man appealed to an official referee, who ruled he could shave or not "so long as it did not affect his duties adversely and did not tend to injure the employer in its business or reputation." The referee overruled the local unemployment office and declared: "there is noting inherently repulsive about a VanDyke beard."

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the Atlantic, meanwhile, a British soldier was sentenced to 28 days in the guardhouse because he refused to go to the regimental barber and be trimmed in the military manner. The squabble even reached Parliament where Socialist Member James Simmons called army regulations "an invasion of man's liberty."

"A soldier's hair style doesn't matter a bit so long as it is neat and tidy," Simmons told the House of Commons. "A young soldier is entitled to express his own individuality if he wishes."

This blast is just the latest in Britain's battle with the beards. Not so long ago, Queen Elizabeth was strongly criticized because a group of sailors were required to shave off their chin foilage before staging a parade in her honor.

One British newspaper, irritated by the order, went so far as to say: "The present advisers of the queen should be kicked out and with them the notion that royalty must move only in the stultified circles of the stuffed shirts.

"As the world teeters between uneasy peace and annihilating war, somebody with time to worry about such things decided that sailors with beards give a parade an untidy look. So the granddaughter of George V, a bearded sailor king, saw only clean-shaven men when she inspected the parade."

Obviously, Elizabeth's advisers had touched on a matter of deep national pride to Britons. After all not only was George V bearded, but so was Sir Francis Drake and many others of the nation's greatest rulers, soldiers, scientists and explorers.

BRITISH ARMY AND air force men are forbidden to wear beards, but they may have mustaches which "are to be kept short." For some reason, royal marines may wear "beards and mustaches, or mustaches only as each may elect."

Things may be changing today, but in the past some of Britain's crack military units have worn beards just as proudly as they wore their medals. Men of the First Patriala Rajendra Sikh regiment, for instance, have a brilliant 300-year-old record in combat and are noted for their fine, wavy beards. During World War II this regiment covered itself with glory in Burma.

Among other units fighting in that area were the Fifth Indian and 11th East African regiments —both busy around the chin. And among Britain's fiercest fighters in Italy were the men of the Eighth Indian division and other Sikh regiments.

In the old days, beards went through cycles of popularity. The troops of Alexander the Great were forbidden to grow them lest enemy soldiers take hold of them in hand-to-hand fighting.

Peter the Great of Russia wanted beards done away with and so he levied special taxes on men who persisted in sprouting them. It got so you could tell a rich man from a poor one from this tonsorial style. These days beards merely distinguish lily livers from stout hearts.

SO WHY OPEN?

ROCKLAND, Me. (UP) —When this city opened its new courtroom for the first time, it developed that there were no cases to be heard.

Crawford Auditor Explains Appraisal

GALION — The general real estate appraisal which will start in Crawford County in a few weeks is expected to be completed by December so that the new appraisals will be on the tax duplicate next year and first payments will be made in 1957 on the new values.

This information was given in a talk by Crawford County Auditor Robert Findley when he appeared as speaker for the dinner meeting of the Rotary Club Tuesday night at Hotel Talbott. Harry T. Jackson, county treasurer, was program chairman for the meeting.

Findley said that it is his intention to give information from time to time to various groups and organizations regarding the responsibilities and duties of his office He pointed out that it is required by state law that a general appraisal be made every six years in all counties of the state The last in Galion was in 1949. He explained that the purpose is not to raise taxes or even to secure more revenue primarily, but to give uniformity to the tax structure so that each and all property owners will pay a fair and just share.

Cutting Record

WILLIAMSTON, Mich. (AP) — Jacob G. (Jake) Frey, who once trimmed the hair and beard of Buffalo Bill Cody and shaved boxer John L. Sullivan, still is going strong after 70 years at a barber chair.

The 84-year-old barber, who started his career in Detroit, also remembers another customer of his younger days. A fellow by the name of Henry Ford, a young mechanic for the Edison Illuminating Co.

There are about 82,000 x-ray units in the United States.

Works Like Luminous Clocks

Navy Makes Lamp Using Neither Battery nor Fuel

WASHINGTON (NANA) — A "perpetual" lamp which needs neither batteries nor fuel has been devised by Navy physicists.

The device's green light will illuminate an average-size room so well that a person with normal eyesight can walk around without difficulty or even read a newspaper. Navy researchers predict a wide variety of uses for the light, which will continue to shine as long as the radioactive substance with which it is made gives off rays.

THE PRINCIPLE is about the same as that of the familiar luminous clock dial, which is coated with small amounts of radium compound mixed with zinc sulphide and gives off low luminescence which gets fainter and fainter. This was the best that could be achieved until new radioactive isotopes were produced in atomic energy plants, according to Dr. L. J. Boardman of the Naval Research Laboratory.

One of these isotopes is Strontium 90—a substance which emits streams of beta rays, or electrons. When these hit the crystals of zinc sulphide, a green light is produced. The light is estimated to be 10 times as bright as that of a full moon on a clear night.

When larger amounts of Strontium 90 are added to the mixture, the light turns blue or red. But green has been found the best.

One drawback of the radium dial, Dr. Boardman explained, is that the zinc sulphide crystals are excited to luminescence by radioactive particles which tend to destroy them rapidly. Hence the amount of the radium compound used must be kept very low. The electrons used in the new device do not destroy the crystals, or only at a much slower rate. Hence, much larger amounts of Strontium 90 can be used with consequently greater illumination.

There are so many uses for the new isotope lamp, both civilian and military. World War II was a war of blackouts. The flashlight was necessary for everybody in the war zones who ventured outdoors after dark. The combatants trained divisions specifically for night fighting.

In these fields the Navy's new perpetual, batteryless lamp promises to be invaluable. The Navy's own interest in the development, however, is in its use for deck, machinery and personnel markers.

USES OUTLINED by Dr. Boardman included:

As a source of illumination to read maps, orders and instructions in the dark.

Illuminations of emergency and exit signs so that they can be read 12 to 15 feet away.

Standby illumination is a power-failure emergency. One high-power green lamp will illuminate a room 15 feet long, 10 feet wide and eight feet high sufficiently well for a dark-adapted person to recognize others and locate obstacles, stairways and doors.

Standby illumination in a power-emergency valves and gears, one of the new lamps placed within two or three feet of the machine to be operated will allow the operator who has been working in daylight to perform the necessary duties from one to three minutes after being plunged into total darkness.

Navy physicists, Dr. Boardman explained, have carried out extensive tests on all these functions.

Work is still in progress on the possible utility of other artificially produced isotopes in creating useful luminescence.

It will be served at 7:30, preceding the regular meeting. At that meeting, Eugene White, superintendent of the Marion County Children's Home, will present the grange a certificate of life membership in the Children's Home Endowment Fund. Angler Finds Oar Preserves Big One

THREE RIVERS, Mich. (UP)—W. H. Payton today told his friends a fish story involving a bass and a pike and a boat oar, and displayed a pike as evidence of its authenticity.

Payton said he was fishing in Fisher Lake near here when a small bass took the hook. Before he could land the bass, a pike tried to pilfer the catch.

Payton said he grabbed a boat oar, hit the pike and pulled the stunned fish into the boat by hand.

Witnesses said the pike weighed 12 pounds, eight ounces.

Man Blows Off Arm in Trying To Kill Spouse

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul E. Johnson, 27, blew off his left arm at the elbow while chasing his wife with a gun and two sticks of dynamite, police said.

Officers gave this account:

Mrs. Lorain Johnson, 22, fled the home of her husband's brother when Johnson threatened to kill her yesterday. She ran to a neighbor's home and Johnson followed, carrying the gun and the dynamite. The neighbors cleared out.

The Dayton man detonated the first dynamite stick probably with a pocket battery. The second stick went off in Johnson's hand just after his wife jumped out a window. She escaped injury, but the blast tore off Johnson's arm. He was reported in satisfactory condition.

"I don't know why he wanted to kill me," Mrs. Johnson told a reporter. "I have so much to live for."

She said Johnson approached her as she boarded a bus for work and told her to go to Beattyville, Ky., with him. When she declined, she said, he forced her to go to a bus depot and asked her for money for bus tickets. She told him she only had $5.

"He handed me the dynamite and said it would blow up if I dropped it. I gave it back to him in a hurry," Mrs. Johnson related.

"He suggested we try to get his brother's car and drive to Kentucky," she said. "I was forced to get into a taxicab and go with him to his brother's home."

Police withheld placing charges against Johnson pending further investigation.

Marion Entry Set for Derby In Rubber City

Larry Craig, Marion's entry in the All American Soap Box Derby, and 153 other derby champs have arrived at Akron for the 18th annual race Sunday.

Today, the youthful drivers will enjoy water sports and entertainment prior to a test run over Derby Downs Friday. The entrants are housed in a YMCA camp in the Portage Lakes district south of Akron.

The 154 contestants will be racing for $15,000 in college scholarships and other valueble prizes and trophies.

Craig, local winner of the Marion Lions Club derby last month, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Craig of 752 E. Center St.

Craig's racer preceded him to Akron, with his vehicle given special attention by the Railway Express which handles the transfer of the racers to and from Akron.

Head of Delaware Schools Appointed

DELAWARE—Willis High School Principal Carl Hopkins has been promoted to Delaware city school superintendent.

Hopkins, who has served 12 years as Willis principal and a member of the school staff, since 1942, fills the vacancy caused by the death of Col. David R. Smith. The appointment by the city school board is to take effect immediately.

The new superintendent was granted a one-year contract at the same salary and expense account which Smith was receiving, $7,500 plus $850 for expenses.

About 20 applications for the post were considered.

Revenue Men Busy Cracking Down on Stills

Tax on Whisky Cited By Liquor Officials as Cause for Bootlegging

WASHINGTON (UP)—You may not realize it, but those revenooers of the roaring twenties are nearly as busy now as in prohibition days.

The Internal Revenue Service reports that during the 11 months ending with May, 11,418 stills were seized, an increase of 1,003 over the same period a year earlier. During that time 9,582 arrests were made, up almost 1,000 over the same period in 1954.

An Internal Revenue official credits the increase to better enforcement. There were 10,863 agents on duty May 21, compared with 10,605 the year before.

However, the Distilled Spirits Institute here contends that bootlegging is profitable once again and consequently more of it goes on.

There is a $10.50 federal tax on each 100-proof gallon of whiskey. When prohibition ended in 1933 the first tax levied on alcohol was $2.20 per 100-proof gallon.

Seizures by federal agents, which rose to 6,694,800 gallons of mash in the 11 months ending May 31, were 75 to 80 per cent in the southeastern states, the revenue official said, though big hauls have been made in northern and mid-western cities.

The Institute spokesman said that bootlegging outside the southeast is also on a large scale. Stills of 500 to 2,000 gallons daily capacity, he said, have been seized. The larger stills, he said, cost from $75,000 to $100,000.

The Internal Revenue Service official said that the 11-month period ending May 31 "was one of the largest" since prohibition from the standpoint of stills smashed and arrests made. During prohibition seizures ran as high as 23,000 stills annually, the Institute reported. This figure does not include scattered seizures by local officials.

GOP Confident With Ike

Democrats Seem a Little Gloomy Over '56 Hopes

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans are contentedly putting all their bets on President Eisenhower's running again and winning in 1956, and the Democrats are gloomy about their prospects if he does.

That's the picture which emerges from this year's governors' conference in Chicago where most of the states' chief executive, Republican and Democratic, are meeting to discuss politics and their mutual problems.

At Chicago nearly all the Republicans who have done any talking for print are not speaking in terms of any Republican presidential candidate except Eisenhower. The Democrats who talked are divided and unenthusiastic about their prospects.

May Be Big Downfall

Because the Republicans are putting all their eggs into Eisenhower's basket, they seem destined for panic next spring if he says he will not seek another term. He has said he would decide in the spring.

They won't have much time left then to build up a successor for him. No other Republican is outstanding. But they probably won't have any more trouble picking a candidate in 1956—if Eisenhower doesn't run—than the Democrats.

The Democrats' hopes would soar, of course, if Eisenhower were out of the picture.

Here are some samples of what the Democrats at Chicago had to say:

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut: he doubts any of the three top Democratic candidates now could carry his state. The three he named: Adlai Stevenson, the Democrats' unsuccessful 1952 candidate; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York; and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey: as of today there's doubt any Democrat could beat Eisenhower in 1956. There is more sentiment in his state for Stevenson than for Harriman, he said, although he thinks Harriman is interested in the nomination.

(Harriman reaffirmed his own preference for Stevenson. He said he wouldn't encourage a move to nominate him. But he declined to say he would discourage it, either. This can be interpreted as running while standing still.)

Lausche a Possibility

And Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio—one Republican said Lausche was the best man the Democrats could find—issued what must be the master understatement of the year.

He didn't say he would like the Democratic nomination in 1956. He said he would not seek it "avidly or fanatically." This leaves him plenty of room to seek it without acting silly.

The best Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan seemed able to think of at the moment was more negative than positive. He said Eisenhower now 64, is an "old man." Immediately Republican governors rushed to the defense of old men.

The Republicans, who offered no doubts about Eisenhowe's candidacy and victory next year, appeared divided among themselves only on the question of what Democrat would be easiest to beat.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California, while predicting another Eisenhower victory, thought Stevenson would be a softer touch than Harriman. So did Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington.

Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana thought the Republicans would have an easier time knocking off Harriman. It was Craig who suggested the Democrats could put their best foot forward by nominating Lausche.

Sheppard Making Good Adjustment, His Family Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The brother and sister-in-law of Dr. Samuel Sheppard say they think he is making a "good adjustment" to prison life.

Dr. Richard Sheppard and his wife visited Dr. Sam yesterday in Ohio Penitentiary where the Bay Village osteopath is serving a life sentence for the July 4, 1954, murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn.

It was their first visit since Dr. Sam entered the penitentiary July 20. His attorneys have filed notice of appeal in the Ohio Supreme Court.

Dr. Richard told newsmen what his brother needs most "is to get something to do, something to work at. That's something he will get here at the penitentiary that he could not get at the jail where he spent 11 months." Dr. Sam was convicted last December and stayed in the county jail pending early appeals. That times does not count on his life sentence.

It has not been decided whether to bring Dr. Sam's eight-year-old son, Chip, to visit his father, Dr. Richard said.

U.S. railroad operating revenues for 1954 were 9,371 million dollars, the smallest since 1949.

Retired Rancher Visits Marion After 47 Years, Seeks Family

It's a good many miles from Marion to Oklahoma City, even as the crow flies, and lots of things happen in nearly half a century, if you ask George L. Stoner of Oklahoma City, a former resident of Marion.

Here to try to learn something of the whereabouts of his family and also to visit his former home, Stoner has virtually covered the city and part of the outlying district during the last few days, and for the most part feels his double mission has met with success.

He has learned where his mother is buried and believes he has information that will lead him to a reunion with two brothers and two sisters.

He left Marion yesterday afternoon for Springfield, where family friends here told him his mother is buried, and while there will make inquiry as to the whereabouts of the brothers and sisters who are believed to be living either in that city or Akron. His mother died in Marion 28 years ago, he was told.

A highlight of his visit here, the first since he left Marion in 1908, was a visit to the Marion County Children's Home. "I spent four of the happiest years of my childhood in the home," Stoner said in telling of his visit.

He found the home much different than when he entered in 1902. "The home was new then and there weren't the facilities and modern equipment of today," he said. Recalling his life there he said there were around 80 or 90 children to be cared for by Ed Hand, superintendent, and his wife, Mrs. Clara Hand, matron.

Feels Mission Was a Success

A Mr. Hunt was the farm superintendent and Mrs. Clara Hall was one of the supervisors in charge. The boys took care of the farm and the girls helped with the work indoors. School was held in the home and on Sunday a minister came to conduct services. A trip to Marion was unheard of due to lack of transportation. "We were well cared for and they were good to us," he added. In later years, thinking about Marion, it seemed the home must be 10 or 15 miles from the town.

Stoner went west in his teens and when quite young enlisted in the U. S. Cavalry, serving six years. He later engaged in farming and is the owner of the Z-R Ranch 14 miles from Shawnee, Okla. He retired five years ago and makes his home in Oklahoma City.

Prior to coming to Marion he visited relatives and friends in Denver, Colo., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

Tot Falls 3 Floors, Seriously Injured

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 22-month-old boy fell from a third-floor roof, dropped through the arms of a youth trying to catch him, and was injured seriously Wednesday.

The child, William Nevitt fell in an apparent effort to retrieve a toy pistol he had dropped from the roof.

His mother, Mrs. Ardena Nevitt, gave this account:

She went to the roof to sleep, after which the child apparently climbed out the window to join her.

Mrs. Ilene Cook and her brother, Jimmy Payton, 18, first floor residents, were standing outside talking when a toy pistol fell at their feet. They looked up and saw a child's legs dangling over the roof edge.

Just then William fell. Payton reached out to catch him, but the child slid through Payton's arms and struck the concrete pavement.

Shots in the Night

One of the mirthful oddities of politics is the old trick of booming presidential candidates for the opposition. A Republican governor of Indiana is booming Ohio Gov. Lausche for the Democratic presidential nomination next year.

Another Lausche boom—there was a little one in 1952—is a warning in advance the political shots in the night will be common from now on. A voter must be prepared in advance. Nothing in politics ever should take him by surprise.

The shots are methodical. They are planned. There is no such thing in presidential politics as a boom that materializes out of nowhere and cannot be traced to politicians. The trick is to make them seem that way, but they never are that way.

Unless President Eisenhower decides to step aside as the Republican party's only visible candidate for a second nomination, all the booming for the next year will be for Democrats. Some of it, like the little boom for Lausche which opened the Governors Conference at Chicago, will be started by Republicans. If Eisenhower steps out, Democrats will be similarly interested in booming Republicans.

It is all part of the great game of politics—and sometimes it gets pretty funny.

All Is Not Sweetness and Light

The accounts of torture and bad treatment for the 11 U.S. airmen released by the Chinese People's Republic last Thursday will do no good for the Chinese Communists in diplomatic relations with the United States.

It never has been a secret that the 11 airmen were diplomatic bait to tempt the United States into the negotiations now going on in Geneva. They owe their release to one of the endless quid-pro-quo deals that are the stock in trade of diplomats.

But it is a shock to learn that even while the airmen were being held prisoner pending the time to barter them for a form of recognition by the U.S. State Department they were maltreated and tortured. In the western code of conduct, it would be barbaric behavior to torture live bait during a fishing trip; it would be unthinkable to torture a human being held captive for use in a diplomatic deal.

The State Department is answerable to popular opinion in its negotiations with Red China. Popular opinion is going to be more sensitive to more quid pro quo than it ever was before as the result of disclosures that China's new tyrants do not even know how to be humane in their treatment of men held prisoner on trumped-up charges in case they may be useful as diplomatic bait.

U.S. Department of Cities

The proposal by a California congressman, J. Arthur Younger, for a department of urbiculture in the federal government is no laughing matter.

Rep. Younger has tickled some senses of humor with his made-up word, "urbiculture," but what he means is a department of cities — and that is serious.

The work cut out for it is as important as the work cut out for the already existing Department of Agriculture, which furnishes information and leadership for all agricultural interests in the country.

The same kind of information about cities is forthcoming in roundabout ways, if at all. Leadership, if any, must come from voluntary associations of city officials.

Yet, the bulk of the nation's population and its tax revenues, as well as the bulk of national income in this industrial age, is in urban areas. The very fact these areas are hamstrung in matters of government by antiquated laws and concepts laid down before cities began to spread into surrounding territory points up the need for a federal department of cities.

Crime's Favorite Tool

The chief of detectives in Cleveland, James E. McArthur, has startled his fellow citizens with a proposal to disarm the city's law-abiding citizens of their revolvers.

When they are through being startled—and righteously indignant over an affront to their constitutional right to keep arms — the proposal might be worth looking into. It has solid logic behind it.

The fact is, McArthur points out, that a revolver is a dangerous weapon to keep and use, unless it is in a gun collection or the hands of an expert. The criminal element makes a practice of arming itself by stealing revolvers from law-abiding individuals. These individuals, in turn, would be better off if they were not tempted to try to shoot it out with gun-toters who have the drop on them.

Precedent for the disarmament proposal is found in England, where possession of small arms is discouraged by the police and where the criminal element has virtually disarmed as a result. English policemen are not armed on routine assignments.

This would be a difficult practice to institute in the United States, where the Bill of Rights guarantees the right to keep arms. But it could be done on a voluntary basis, if' possessors of revolvers could be made to see that it is not their legal right to keep revolvers that is in question, but only the wisdom.

Eisenhower Entirely Frank About Second Term

President Eisenhower is adopting a sensible attitude toward the question of whether or not he should accept renomination next year — and he is putting veteran politicians to shame by his approach.

Lawrence

For, as the President sees it — and he has hinted at it again and again in remarks to various groups—there is no indispensable man in America. He is right. If a major political party depends for success solely on the candidacy of one man, it may wind up with the discovery that the party's record is so weak that even a "popular" candidate can't win on it.

It is a strange myth which has wide currency that elections for the presidency are won on the basis of the popularity of a man. If this were so, William Jennings Bryan should have won at least once out of the three times he ran. A half century ago he pulled the biggest crowds ever known, and there wasn't any radio or television in those days. He was beaten not because of his lack of personality or popular appeal but because his radical views were unacceptable to the majority of the voters.

FEW MORE POPULAR figures have run for president than James Cox, three times governor of Ohio, Democrat, and a great campaigner who drew large crowds from coast to coast. He was defeated in a landslide by Sen. Harding, who spoke a few times from the front porch of his Ohio home in the summer and autumn of 1920 and never made a speech anywhere else in the whole campaign.

It wasn't any lack of personality in Cox or Harding's "popularity" that swung the election, as the Ohio senator was scarcely known throughout the country. It was the unpopularity of the record of the Democratic administration of President Wilson which turned the voters toward the Republican party in such great numbers

Eisenhower won in 1952 not because of his own popularity but because of the unpopularity of the Truman administration on the issues known as "Communism, Korea and Corruption." This correspondent in preconvention days wrote that Eisenhower should be chosen as against Taft for the nomination on the theory that Taft couldn't win. But an examination of the election returns in November brought convincing evidence to the contrary. Taft could have won in 1952, because it was primarily a negative verdict against the Truman administration which the voters recorded. The peace and integrity issues were strong enough to overcome even the "prosperity" issue, as times were good in 1952.

DO 50 MILLION VOTERS really come to know any presidential candidate well enough to "like" him in a personal sense? They really like or dislike his views or the record he has made, and mostly they are swayed by three major issues—peace or the lack of it, prosperity or recession, integrity in public office or corruption.

President Eisenhower could win hands down, and so could any other Republican nominee if the election were held tomorrow. That's because, in the political sense, there's peace and there's prosperity and integrity in public office.

A year hence, if there's an economic recession and unemployment—as there was during the congressional campaign of 1954, when the Democrats won the House and tied the Senate—even President Eisenhower would have a hard time winning. Likewise, if the peace situation is messed up and the "breaks" go against the President, he could be in political trouble in 1956.

Eisenhower is right in being dubious about running again. He might ask himself why, if he has made a good record, a successor Republican could not benefit by it? He might ask why, if there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office, any Republican shouldn't win.

THE REPUBLICAN party organization leaders think their task will be easier if Ike runs, but actually they are revealing an inferiority complex and a bit of defeatism in emphasizing so much their concern over whether Eisenhower is or isn't the candidate.

It has been said that Ike ought to have a good man in the vice presidency to succeed him if anything happens to him during a second term. Richard Nixon is probably better equipped to be president and better informed about the job than any vice president, who has succeeded a president in office in 100 years

He has, of course, earned the undying enmity of the Communists, as well as various left wingers, New Dealers and Fair Dealers, but they will be found in the minority no matter who the Republican candidates are—provided there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office for the present administration to crow about in 1956.

The Republican party in its four years either will have established itself as strong enough to win both houses of Congress and the Presidency on the basis of the condition of the country internally and externally, or else the presence of seriously adverse conditions will defeat any Republican candidate, including Eisenhower, in 1956.

THAT'S WHY the Democrats are trying to exaggerate the Dixon-Yates controversy and why they would have made capital out of the Talbott case if it hadn't been disposed of promptly.

The biggest single fact about elections which is borne out by the record is that the electorate votes "against things" and, if they have nothing serious about which to protest, they either vote for the party in power or stay away from the polls and don't vote for their own party.

That's what happened in England this year, when the "indispensable" Churchill didn't run and Eden, relatively untrained in Domestic affairs, was victorious on a peace and prosperity platform, as millions of Socialist Labor party voters stayed at home on election day.

No Rest for the Capitol Corps

By David Barnett

Advice to capitol visitors: Don't walk up to an employe and say, "Now that Congress has gone home, you can take it easy."

You might get your head snapped off.

As William (Fishbait) Miller, the House doorkeeper, states, with obvious irritation:

"The work doesn't stop. It just changes its brand."

Although a congressman may have dashed for home after the gavels banged the end of the session, his staff and many behind-the-scenes employes of Congress are still working away in Washington's heat.

Dorothy Scott, secretary to the secretary of the Senate, Felton Johnson, notes:

"There are a lot of loose ends that require action. Many senators just 'leave 'em go' when the session ends."

True, the frenzy of the closing hours of the session is gone, but there are still areas of harried activity.

-:-

IN THE HOUSE document room, which dispenses printed copies of bills and committee reports, Superintendent Elmer A. Lewis complains:

"Everybody is hollering for bills that were passed late. Heck, they're standing in breadlines out there all the time."

The printing clerks are still working after dark arranging material for the Congressional Record and for committee "prints"—reports of committee hearings or investigations.

The final edition of the Record for the first session will not be out until Aug. 25.

In the clerk's office, a permanent journal of the session is being made up, permanent voting records are being compiled, as a battery of telephones keeps the bill clerk busy telling callers the status of proposed legislation.

Straightening out the record of the session's accomplishments is a tremendous job. Robert G. Baker, secretary for the Senate majority, estimates he has "months of paper work to do."

In the rotunda of the Capitol, the flow of visitors continues unabated. Floyd Kirby, captain of guides, says the number of tourists who come in for the tour of the building won't start tapering off until after Labor Day.

In the House and Senate office buildings, the lawmakers staff members are struggling to get "current."

DURING THE SESSION, many routine chores, such as filing, had been "put off until the recess." The daily mail must be handled, traveling arrangements for the "boss" completed, research for next year's session started, "bread and butter" political problems handled.

In the Senate Office Building suite of Vice President Nixon, for instance, staff members have to juggle about 30 invitations a day. There is no "senate-in-session" excuse.

They all must be answered and some fitted into a schedule that permits about 10 appointments a day. This rugged program is being arranged three months in advance.

House Postmaster H. H. Morris has noted a decline in the volume of mail since Congress quit, but secretaries who have to handle the letters point out that it's the type of mail that counts in the work load.

Near the end of the session, congressional offices are often swamped by "pressure" mail—telegrams, letters, cards demanding that a lawmaker vote a certain way or face certain defeat at the polls. Many of these do not require answers.

THE POST-ADJOURNMENT letter has to be answered. Constituents want quick and complete answers to their questions on veterans' benefits, social security and passports. First-time inventors and songwriters want patents and copyrights.

And they all want to deal with the man at the top, their senator or congressman—even though the local Post Office could probably provide the facts they seek

The large number of lawmakers who are back in their home districts mending political fences prompts a vast mail-shuttling system. Letters by the thousands are forwarded to the Washington office or in the other direction.

While he is making the rounds back home, the congressman must often get in touch with his staff in Washington for details of actions taken by Congress or for answers to be obtained by staff members from government agencies.

The Washington staff of a congressman often will get orders from the "boss" to draw up specific legislation to be introduced in January.

TO HELP IN THESE legal problems, the staff assistant will usually call on the legislative counsels of the two houses. Working holidays during a congressional recess is routine for these drafting experts.

Requests for bill drafts are now running into some left over from the session. Allan H. Perley, House legislative counsel, points out that "We have quite a few jobs to do now that were too big to handle during the rush of the session." One, for instance, is recodification of military law.

Then there are the political bull-sessions. They never cease, although decisions can be made and vote-getting gambits devised at a more leisurely pace while the bells of Congress are silent. But, as one still harried assistant to a senator put it:

"Staying in office is a 24-hour-a-day job, every day of the year. Of course, next year it will be a 36-hour-a-day job."

Next year is an election year.

Slicker Than Slickers

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the patterns men have lived by is the notion that the city slicker and the country rube keep trying to outwit each other and the rube usually wins.

At the height of another vacation season, it might be imagined that millions of rubes and slickers are locked in mortal combat and when they finally are separated the rubes will have the best of it.

The truth lies elsewhere. At least it does not all lie in one place. For every rube-slicker tussle in the traditional pattern, there is a rube-slicker relationship of another kind.

There are so many other kinds that no one can point to a typical pattern.

About as many rubes spend vacations in cities as slickers spend in the country in the first place. And the typical experience of a countryman in metropolis is the discovery that most town mice were born and raised in the country, themselves. Moreover, the ruralite who expected to be hornswoggled as soon as he hit the pavements usually comes back home impressed with the all-around honesty of the people he dealt with.

Meanwhile, the town boys and girls who have gone to Rosy Fingered Dawn for a breathing spell frequently realize they have changed nothing but their location and are surrounded by other town boys and girls on the same mission — not a native ruralite to be seen anywhere. So they never get a chance to match wits with the country mice.

Most reassuring of all situations, however, is the one in which people who are supposed to be locked in mortal combat because of presumably dissimilar interests become friends, instead. This happens far oftener than the clash of wits that is supposed to result when town and country are brought together.

Warm and lasting friendships ensue. New areas of understanding are created. People who have been played off against each other for generations by sharpies who know how to play the game of Divide And Rule learn what they hold in common.

They quit patronizing each other in their thoughts and learn to share mutual interests. They break out of the proletariat - peasant deadlock that has fouled up the march of civilization in the world and begin to understand what they could accomplish if they worked shoulder to shoulder.

They reject the notion that hicks always buy the Brooklyn Bridge and that boobs from town always buy fake antiques.

They discover, if they are open to suggestion, that what is slicker than the slickers is the way Americans can get along together once they have had a chance to get acquainted.

It isn't a struggle between rubes and slickers any more. It never was. That was something fobbed off on gullible Americans in the days before the summer vacation mixup blended the population.

One of these summers, no one will remember any more that there used to be differences between town and country.

International Perils

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Longshoremen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier far down in Mexico.

They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens.

Then, one day after her customary siesta, she wandered onto harbor drive An American automobile killed her.

Experts at the University of Michigan predict that the work week in the year 2000 will be only 30 hours and pay will be more than twice what it is today. It had better be, because with all that leisure the golf ball, suntan lotion and fishing rod bills are going to skyrocket.

Daily Bible Thought

"I have blotted out . . . thy transgressions, . . . return unto me, for I have redeemed thee." — Isa 44:22. We can go back home with our heads up. When we truly repent the Infinite Father destroys the record, but our own memory alone endures.

GIs Are Praised

ORLEANS, France (AP)—American soldiers stationed in France are behaving better than they would at home, says Maj. Gen. Philip E. Gallagher, who commands the European communications zone. He has men stationed in towns and villages throughout France.

Such results don't come without work. The General pores over statistics from his command every day. Incidents—now largely confined to traffic mishaps—get a quick checkup.

"There is a growing tendency in the areas where our people are located to accept us," Gallagher says, "and most of our soldiers recognize their responsibility."

The Once Over

A Letter to 11 Great Guys

To Eleven Returned Fliers: Welcome in Three-D. Nothing done in your honor can be enough. The football season is only a few weeks away, but America already has the 1955 All-American Eleven. You're it! No other eleven Americans on earth are better known the world around. You are haggard, worn to a frazzle and perhaps too weakened ever to know full health again. One of you is on crutches. But in any form charts showing endurance, reliability and class for human beings you are standouts.

YOU ARE GUYS who could take it without ratting on your country or your buddies. In the long months of imprisonment you felt no urges to be a turncoat. There must have been periods when you just couldn't savvy Uncle Sam's failure to rescue you.

It must have been extra tough when Dag Hammarskjold left the rice-wine and birdnest soup parties in Peiping with little but a deep-freeze word that the situation "called for patience" and that in time everything would turn out okay. This was all hardly in the inspiring rescue spirit of the U.S.A. But you will be back in your homes in a few days with mom, pop, the wife, kids and "Rags" the pooch, and that's what counts.

I suppose you would like to check on what's happened in your absence. Well, the American League baseball race is a thriller cut to order to lads away from home a long time. Casey Stengel is having moments when he would consider being held in China a relatively minor tough break. Leo Durocher had to bail out over Mongolia months ago and his chute hasn't opened yet.

EDDIE LOPAT and Sal Maglie are no longer with New York clubs. Duke Snider and Roy Campanella are conducting air-space projectile experiments, George Gobel is the latest TV sensation, Swaps will meet Nashua, Russian agriculturists are touring American farms and dancing with American girls in western niteries, and a lot of congressmen are going to Russia to determine if the latest Soviet production is a revival of "Smiles" or an imitation of "Masquerade Party." The Democrats are trying to figure out how they can beat Ike since his administration gave America a $64,000 quiz-program jackpot, a "basketball" that can circle the globe in an hour and a half, the summit conference, Bermuda shorts and a slight prospect of the return of the nickel cup of coffee.

LONDON REPORTS that in 1472 a carpenter built a house for $18.50. That was when they used an extra nail here and there, too.

Photographs in the volume bring back vividly the memory of pretty wonderful lounges and dining rooms . . . And a menu on the Priscilla records a broiled lobster for 75 cents! A tenderloin steak with mushrooms was the same price and roast beef was 45 cents per plate!!

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — The evacuation of the Russian city of Kovno, one of the principal fortresses in the second line of the defense of the Russians, had begun, an announcement by the war office at Petrograd said.

Quiet had been restored in Vera Cruz according to Consul Silliman in a dispatch to the state department. Authorities had quelled all of the anti-American demonstrations and the city was again tranquil, he said.

20 YEARS AGO—Thirty-six veterans of the 309th Supply Train of the American Expeditionary Forces, among them five Marionites, closed their 10th annual reunion here. It was a unit of the 84th division in 1918.

Rev. S. F. Porter, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church for seven years, presented his resignation to the congregation. He was to continue his studies at Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.

More than 1,000 persons gathered at Community Park in Prospect in the first day's activities of the communities' centennial anniversary celebration which was to last a full week.

A Marion County woman and two Union County residents who believed they were the state's oldest triplets met for a reunion in Prospect after celebrating their 68th birthday anniversaries. They were Mrs. Minnie Manley of LaRue, Mrs. Angie Bainbridge of Magnetic Springs and George Parish of Essex.

10 YEARS AGO — The Big Four allied powers made a conditional acceptance of Japan's offer to quit the war—based on retention of the emperor's sovereignty. The two principal conditions of acceptance were that the emperor must subject himself to the orders of a supreme allied commander and that a government in Japan be ultimately established in accordance with "the freely expressed will of the Japanese people."

Thirty per cent of Nagasaki, including some of Japan's greatest wartime plants, was obliterated by the atomic bombing of two days earlier, the Strategic Air Forces announced. At least 13 important factories were wiped out or badly damaged and almost all of the Kyushu seaport's industrial district was destroyed.

America's vast Pacific fleet and massive swarms of B-29's withheld their shells and bombs while the allies debated Japan's surrender offer.

Only 550 miles separated the tips of two huge Red army columns striking from west and east across the heart of Manchuria.

Marion, waiting with the rest of the nation to see whether the Japanese surrender offer would be accepted by the Allies, was withholding celebration until the word was official that the actual end of the war had come in the Pacific.

Thirty-six persons were arrested in a police raid on the Kentucky Club, an alleged bookmaking establishment at 138½ S. Main St., by 11 police officers headed by Chief William E. Marks.

Enlistment Drive Closing on Sept. 2

Enlistment in the 3rd Armored Division's unit rotation program ends Sept. 2 and only a limited number of vacancies remain, according to Specialist 2-c Michael E. Waters, local Army recruiter.

Under the new plan, entire single units are rotated between the United States and overseas and enlistees join the division as a group and remain together.

Young men from 17 to 34 are eligible for enlistment in the Third Armored Division. Vacancies for men with prior service under the plan are also available.

Enlistees in the division can take courses in the United States Armed Forces Institute or enroll in a foreign school or university and carry on studies without interruption, Specialist Waters explains. The Third Armored Division is to be rotated to Europe during the spring of 1956, Waters announced.

MR. AND MRS. FRED L. HINAMON of near Marion are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Ann, to James W. Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Chapman of near Caledonia.

The couple has chosen Friday, Aug. 26, as the date for their wedding, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the Caledonia Memorial Methodist Church. The custom of open church will be observed.

Miss Hinamon was graduated from Harding High School in June this year and is employed with the Fulfillment Corporation. Her fiance, a graduate of Caledonia High School this year, is employed as a laboratory technician at Tecumseh Products Co., Marion Division.

Past service members were guests when Gamma Mu Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority met for a picnic Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. B. N. North on the Williamsport Rd. They were Mrs. Ray Biddle of San Diego, Calif., a former member, Mrs. John Holliday, Mrs. Idella Heininger and Mrs. Robert Middleton. It was reported that Mrs. Richard Price, a member of the local chapter now living in Mount Vernon, has transferred to the Mansfield chapter. Mrs. Charles Burns was given an associate membership in the chapter.

Plans were discussed for the ice cream booth to be sponsored by the chapter at the Marion County Fair Aug. 20-25. Named to serve as a committee in charge of arrangements were Mrs. Kenneth Kingsley, Mrs. Edward Fox, Mrs. Gene Martin, Mrs. Richard Wright, Mrs. Harry Partridge and Mrs. Ronald Rish.

Plans were made to attend the formal dedication of the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation Sept. 11. At that time Grace Fern Heck of Urbana, a past national president of Delta Theta Tau Sorority and a member of the board of trustees, will present a check for $10,000 to Dr. Kenneth Keever of the Foundation, a gift from the national sorority. A drill team was organized for ritualistic work to be presented at the inspection of the chapter later this year. Mrs. Robert Shoemaker and Mrs. Earl McWherter volunteered to provide material for the next two publications of the sorority magazine. The next meeting will be Sept. 6 in the women's lounge at the Elks Club.

Decorations and appointments were in keeping with the party theme. Miss Blessing is the fiancee of Roger Shull of North Manchester, Ind. The custom of open church will be observed for the wedding which will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the First Church of the Brethren. Both Miss Blessing and her fiance will return to college in the fall. The prospective bridegroom will be graduated in June. He is a major in history and business administration and plans to enter the teaching field.

Clark said the cattle wandered up to his ranch more than a month ago.

The rancher said the strays amuse themselves by jumping his fences. He wouldn't mind if they cleared all the time. But he said sometimes from a flat-footed position, they don't make it, and the fence is bowled over.

Of interest here is the announcement of the marriage Sunday, July 31, in Port Jervis, N. Y., of Miss Shirley Carol Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Price of that city, and Donald Raymond Reiff. He is the son of Mrs. Isabelle Reiff of Port Jervis and Donald R. Reiff of Marion.

The ceremony took place in St. Mary's Church and the double ring ceremony was read at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Louis A. Jaudas, pastor.

Vase arrangements of white gladioli and lighted candles decorated the altar. Music was by Miss Mae Burns, organist, and Vincent Livingston, brother-in-law of the bride, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length gown of nylon tulle and hand-clipped lace over white bridal satin. The fitted lace bodice had a square neckline and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was encircled with two bands of lace and ended in a short sweep train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was edged with hand-clipped lace and was caught to a crown of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a round nosegay of white roses and gladioli with streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Leonora Saltarelle of Pittsfield, Mass., and bridesmaids were Misses Marilyn Gilbert, cousin of the bride, and Kathleen O'Connell. Their ballerina-length gowns were fashioned alike of lace with fitted bodices, short sleeves and scooped necklines. The full skirts had insets of pleated nylon tulle. The maid of honor, in ice pink lace, wore a matching headpiece and mitts of lace and carried a round bouquet of pink roses, pink gladioli and blue delphinium tied with pink streamers. The bridesmaids were in ice blue, wore matching headpieces and mitts of lace and carried round bouquets of yellow roses and yellow gladioli tied with blue streamers.

Flower girl was Miss Sharyl Price, niece of the bride, whose ballerina-length gown was of ice pink lace over pink taffeta styled with a fitted bodice, square neckline, puff sleeves and bouffant skirt. She wore a poke bonnet of white straw trimmed with rosebuds and tied under her chin and carried a tiny white basket with pink roses and blue streamers. Ring bearer was Vincent Livingston Jr., nephew of the bride.

David Case served as best man for the bridegroom and ushers were Edward Van Horn, Daniel O'Connell and Gene Clark.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Price chose a mauve pink lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow and white roses. Mrs. Reiff was attired in a printed nylon chiffon dress with white accessories and a corsage of red and white roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception and buffet luncheon for 125 guests was held in the Mount Carmel Hall. A tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom decorated the table.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, during which they planned to visit in Marion, Mrs. Reiff was wearing a rose colored taffeta dress with white accessories. They will reside in an apartment at 59 Kingston Ave., Port Jervis.

The Iberia Methodist Church was the scene Saturday evening of the wedding uniting in marriage Miss Mildred Roesch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roesch of west of Iberia, and Barry Vaughn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vaughn of near Martel.

The closed church ceremony took place at 7:15 o'clock with Rev. C. C. Whetstone performing the double ring service before an altar decorated with large baskets of white gladioli and delphinium. Prenuptial organ music was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Donald Pfahler.

For her wedding, Miss Roesch chose a white organdy dress trimmed with tiny pleats and white satin bows. She carried a white Bible topped with red and white pleats and white satin bows. The Bible had been carried by the bride's' sister, the late Betty Roesch Hissong, at her wedding two years ago.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Joyce Roesch. As maid of honor Miss Roesch wore a blue nylon dress and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and yellow carnations.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Dean Vaughn of Martel.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Wilma Allen, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sandra Vaughn, sister of the bridegroom, assisted with the serving.

The bride was graduated from Martel High School in 1954 and from Carnegie Institute of Technology in Cleveland. She is employed by Hoch Real Estate Agency here. The bridegroom was graduated from Martel High School in 1955 and is employed by the Osgood Manufacturing Co.

PET FORGOT HER. Back from a three-month visit to Holland, Donna Van Amen, 3, appears disconsolate because her pet dog Bambi, didn't recognize her when she landed at international Airport, Idlewild, N. Y. She blames it on the Dutch costume she wears.

Radar Equipment Used In Fight Against Smog

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Radar is now being used as a detective to track down some of the chemicals responsible for eye-smarting smog.

Dr. W. D. Hershberger, professor of engineering, has found that the pattern of certain microwaves is changed with the presence of gases thought to be associated with smog.

Dr. Hershberger plans to use radar in both laboratory experiments and in testing the smog as it forms over Los Angeles. Microwaves will be beamed across the area from stations to special receiving instruments on top of the UCLA engineering building.
